SWEETENING THE WAIT — The wait for gasoline at the Marin Free Carwash in Strawberry is just as long as at other service stations. But lately it's been a bit more pleasant, since a free cup of coffee and a cookie, like the goodies being served by Lynn Rice (left) and Risa Fleet, can take the motorist's mind off the length of the line.

FREE COFFEE, COOKIES

Gas Line Grumbles Are Given The Boot At Marin Carwash

Motorists might not be able to get gas too easily at the Marin Free Carwash in Strawberry, but they can get free cups of coffee served at their car windows on silver trays by smiling teen-aged hostesses.

The carwash and the nearby MacDonald's drive-in are splitting the cost of the coffee and cookies and lollipops for motorists waiting to fill up.

"I thought I'd inject a little lightness into a frustrating situation," said station manager Tom Hippenmeyer about the program which began Tuesday. "The cost isn't that great, and we're doing so much business that it's worthwhile to do a little bit extra to make customers happier."

Henry Hyman, assistant manager of MacDonald's said he got the idea for the distribution while waiting at the carwash last Saturday. "I was thinking it was really stupid that I hand't brought something to eat from the drive-in. It occurred to me we should give away coffee."

He said the giveaway would last through the week and maybe longer.

Moving among the cars, the coffee-laden girls brought smiles to weary waiters.

"Well, isn't this nice," said Mrs. Genevieve Meunier of San Rafael, who had been in line for 20 minutes.

Florence O'Connell of Tiburon said she was going to suggest to station owners that they sell coffee. "I had money out to pay for this," she said, flashing a quarter. "It's a great idea."

"This sure is nice," said Barbara Reiff of San Rafael, who had waited 15 minutes.

Now, if someone could only figure out how to make an eight-cylinder engine that runs on caffeine. . .

San Francisco City Employees Strike As Talks On Pay Fail

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Municipal employees struck the City of San Francisco today in a pay dispute.

The walkout affected all city installations except the Municipal Railway, the Service Employees Union declared. Pickets walked in the rain in front of city hall.

They appeared despite a declaration by mediators that the strike which had been scheduled for midnight yesterday would be postponed for 24 hours to permit further wage negotiations.

About 10,000 muncipal employees are represented by the AFL-CIO union and strike sanction had been granted them by the San Francisco Labor Council.

Policemen, firemen, ambulance drivers and emergency health service employees also were exempted from the walkout.

In dispute are pay increases ranging from 2 per cent to 5 per cent voted by the board of supervisors on Monday. Supervisors had estimated the cost of that package at $5.5 million.

In authorizing the walkout, the labor council noted the cost of living index in this area had risen 8.9 per cent during the past year.

Mayor Joseph L. Alioto had stepped into the dispute as a mediator and his appearance led to the belief that the strike would be postponed.

Instead, union members held a mass meeting and went to the picket lines.

Alioto had termed the supervisors' pay offer as inadequate and scheduled meetings for today both with them and with union negotiators.

The union has demanded across-the-board increases of $960 a year, plus a fully-paid dental plan—a package estimated at $16 million a year or about three times the supervisor's offer.

Union members worked in the city's schools, the airport, the utility and public works departments, hospitals as well as in the city hall.

Clerk-typists employed by the city have been getting $8,472 a year.

Secret Tam Cabin Plan Is Revealed

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

A secret document designed to preserve exclusive leases on 13 cabins in Mount Tamalpais State Park has been drafted by the staff of the Department of Parks and Recreation.

The document is scheduled to come before the state Park and Recreation Commission tomorrow in San Francisco, but Capitol sources told the Independent-Journal the commission will reject the document so the issue can be shelved indefinitely by referring it back to the staff for further work.

The result would be to continue the excluisve use of the cabins, which stand on public land within Mount Tamalpais State Park between Stinson Beach and Muir Beach.

Attempts by the I-J to obtain a copy of the document were rejected by the department which claimed it was not a public record, though the California Public Records Act defines public records as all "documents containing information relating to the conduct of the public's business prepared, owned, used or retained by any state or local agency regardless of physical form or characteristics."

Frank Bechler, administrative assistant to the director of the department, William Penn Mott Jr., insisted the document was not a public record, saying the Public Records Act does not apply to it.

While preliminary drafts such as this could qualify under the act's exemptions if "the public interest in withholding such records clearly outweighs the public interest in disclosure," Belder made no claim that the public would suffer from disclosure.

Bechler referred the I-J to Deputy Atty. Gen. John Morris, legal adviser to the department. Morris backed Bechler, adding that his legal advice to the department was a private matter.

A complaint to the governor's office brought the reply late yesterday that no such document even existed. The spokesman for the administration said that he had been so informed by Mott's office.

Tomorrow's session of the commission starts at 9 a.m. in Room 283 of the World Trade Center at the Ferry Building. Discussion of the cabins is near the bottom of the day-long agenda, and a department spokesman said it probably would not come up until the afternoon session. He cautioned, however, that the commission could juggle the agenda and take it up in the morning.

The exclusive leases have been held for years by influential San Franciscans. Under state law, they were supposed to have been terminated by the department last Friday, but they are being extended month-to-month until completion by the parks and recreation department of plans for competitive bidding on their future use.

Campaign Film Given Support

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield and Minority Leader Hugh Scott yesterday urged the commercial television networks to show in prime time a Gregory Peck-narrated commercial asking taxpayers to donate $1 each to help finance presidential campaigns.

They said the advertisement, prepared by the League of Women Voters Education Fund, has "our own strong personal endorsement."

Former Top Nixon Advisers Indicted

Ehrlichman, Colson Among Six Accused

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Six persons, including former top presidential aides John D. Ehrlichman and Charles W. Colson, were indicted today by a Watergate grand jury for the 1971 burglary at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

The charges in the case of the White House "Plumbers" were the second set of major indictments to shake the Nixon administration in six days. On Friday, Ehrlichman, Colson, John N. Mitchell, H. R. Haldeman and three other former associates of President Nixon were named for their part in the Watergate cover-up.

Deputy White House Press Secretary Gerald Warren repeated a Nixon statement of last week calling for speedy trials and urging Americans not to pre-judge the guilt of those charged.

The President, whose name was not mentioned in the latest indictments, had said he organized the Plumbers because of threats to national security, but did not authorize or have knowledge of the Ellsberg break-in.

Indicted today with Ehrlichman and Colson were G. Gordon Liddy, alleged mastermind of the Ellsberg burglary, and three Cuban-Americans— Bernard L. Barker, Eugenio Martinez and Felipe DeDiego, all of Miami. Barker and Martinez had been sentenced to jail earlier for their part in the original Watergate break-in.

All six men were charged with violating the civil liberties of Dr. Lewis Fielding, Ellsberg's psychiatrist. In addition, Ehrlichman was charged with one count of making a false statement to the FBI and three counts of making false declarations to the grand jury investigating the Ellsberg case.

Liddy, in a separate indictment, also was charged on two counts of refusing to testify before Congress about the Plumbers' activities.

Nixon's name was not mentioned in the indictment.

All six defendants could receive a maximum 10 years in prison and a fine of $10,000 on the civil liberties charge, and Ehrlichman could get a total of 30 years and $50,000 fine if convicted on all five counts for which he was indicted.

Liddy's total maximum on the three counts would be 12 years and $12,000. He already is serving a provisional sentence of 8-20 years for his role in Watergate and for his refusal to cooperate in the investigation.

The indictments charged that the conspirators carried out the Ellsberg burglary "in a manner

Three More In Water Board Race

Three more persons announced candidacy yesterday for the Marin Municipal Water District board.

Polly Smith, a Marin County Parks and Recreation Commissioner, and Ben A. Farlatti, businessman and Marin civic leader, are seeking the fifth division seat vacated by the resignation of Dr. Ronald T. Stafford. Both are Tiburon residents.

They join Willard A. Hall and Dorothy E. Gibson of Sausalito and Robert Lee Grant of Tiburon in the race to represent the division which includes most of Sausalito, Belvedere, Tiburon, Marin City and Tamalpais Valley.

Robert C. Walker of Mill Valley, a security systems consultant, wants the fourth division seat of Dr. L. Martin Griffin, who will not seek reelection in June.

He faces competition from Pamela Lloyd of Mill Valley, who was the first announced candidate for the division which encompasses Mill Valley, Kent Woodlands, part of Kentfield and Corte Madera west of Highway 101.

Farlatti, 61, owner of parking garages in San Francisco and a beauty salon in Strawberry, said he hopes to bring harmony to a board that has "devoted more time to fighting together than working together."

He said he opposes the ban on new connections imposed by the present board and does not believe the water district should be involved in growth control.

"That particular phase belongs to the individual communities," he said. "Through their planning commissions and city councils they have enough controls. I don't think there should be any more obstacles for developers than that."

ROBERT C. WALKER

BEN A. FARLATTI

He said he sees the water district's role as providing service by looking for future sources of water supply to keep up with normal population growth.

"It is not up to the water district to say who can do what. For years and years the district ran one of the smoothest public utilities known. They it got into something (growth control) that is not its business."

Farlatti, a native of Marin is chairman of the county personnel commission, a director of the Marin County Humane Society, president of the Marin County Concert Association and a member of the vocational department advisory board at Tamalpais High School.

He also is a past president of the Marin County Chamber of Commerce. He was an unsuccessful candidate for the board of supervisors in 1968.

Bales Plans No Present Charges In Fairfax Post-Election Brawl

By NELS JOHNSON

Neither Fairfax Town Administrator Robert E. Crowe nor Kenneth M. Davidson will be charged in connection with yesterday's post-election brawl in Fairfax, Marin County Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales said today.

Meanwhile, newly elected Fairfax City Councilman Randall Garrison declared today that Crowe will be fired.

"After interviewing everybody concerned, it is impossible to determine who was the aggressor," Bales said. "At this moment, I don't have sufficient evidence to press charges against anybody."

Bales said it is impossible at this time to prove the guilt or innocence of either man beyond a reasonable doubt, but added an investigation of the incident is continuing.

"I want to stress that the investigation is not closed," Bales said.

Both Crowe, 37, and Davidson, 19, were injured in the fracas, in which, police said, Crowe was hit on the head with a beer bottle and Davidson was cut in the back with an axe.

Crowe was hospitalized briefly with head cuts and contusions. Davidson's back required 30 stitches to close.

The brawl occurred in the street fronting the home of Roberta Laidley of 34 Meadow Way, after Crowe and Mrs. Laidley were confronted by Davidson who, police reports said, challenged the administrator to a fight. According to the police, however, each blamed the other of striking the first blow.

Davidson had been attending a victory party for Frank J. Egger, who was celebrating his reelection to the city council in his home at 13 Meadow Way, just a block away from the Laidley residence.

Bales said Davidson is seeking an attorney's advice and has declined to give the district attorney's office a statement.

Davidson's father told the Independent-Journal that press accounts of the incident are "completely untrue," and said:

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Time Donates Khrushchev Data

NEW YORK (UPI) — Time Inc. has given tape recordings and a transcript of the oral memoirs of Nikita S. Khrushchev to the Columbia University's oral history collection.

Khrushchev

The gift announced yesterday was the first public disclosure by Time of the tapes' existence and their presence in the country.

About half of the 180-hours of recordings were the basis for four articles in Life magazine beginning November 27, 1970, and the book "Khrushchev Remembers," published by Little, Brown and Company in December 1970, according to Time.

The other half came into Time's possession after Khrushchev's death.

Aid Pledged

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — More than 700 Cambodian nationalists formally joined the ranks of the government side today and pledged to fight alongside the Cambodian army.

The nationalists call themselves Khmer Rumdos and have fought with the Cambodian rebels since the war's beginning nearly four years ago, professing to be anti-government but not Communists.

Ung Bun Heang, a leader of the 742 Rumdos, told UPI in an interview last Sunday, "we are not ralliers to the government side. We hate that word. We are here to see if the government is really interested in reunification of the Khmer People."

Pagoda Bombed

SAIGON (UPI) — Viet Cong terrorists lobbed two hand grenades today into a Mekong Delta pagoda, killing 11 and wounding 30 persons seeking refuge from the war, the Saigon military command said.

The command also said Communist gunners shot and killed a crew member of a twin engined CH47 Chinook helicopter shortly after it had unloaded 40 Communist POWs at the Viet Cong de facto capital of Loc Ninh, 75 miles north of Saigon.

In the Mekong Delta attack, the victims were refugees who had fled to the Tam Soc Pagoda in Ba Xuyen province, 100 miles southwest of Saigon, because their village was insecure, command spokesman Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien said.

In Cambodia, rebels shelled Phnom Penh today for the first time in more than two weeks, killing one person and wounding another.

Ethiopa Strike

ADDIS ABABA (UPI) — The first general strike in Ethiopian history paralyzed Addis Ababa today, shutting down shops and public services and slowing traffic to a trickle. Workers were demanding 200 per cent pay raises and sweeping labor reforms.

Several thousand chanting and clapping students carrying banners reading "down with the premier" and "freedom of the press" tried to hold a sympathy march from Haile Selassie University, but were turned back peacefully by riot police.

"The strike is 100 per cent successful," a high union official said. "All of our 85,000 members are out on strike. We are stronger even than the army."

An armed forces mutiny last week over a pay dispute resulted in 50 per cent wage boosts for the military and moves by the virtually absolute monarch toward political reform.

Refinery Opposed

DURHAM, N.H. (UPI) — The citizens of this seacoast town voted 1,254 to 144 last night to go on record against a proposal by Aristotle Onassis to build a massive oil refinery here.

Although the town selectmen and members of the planning board have the final say, they were expected to follow the decision of the town meeting.

Olympic Refineries Inc., one of the Greek multimillionaire's firms, had proposed that Durham be the site of the world's largest oil refinery to date. The proposal had the backing of Gov. Meldrim Thomson, but environmentalists and local citizens said they should be allowed to decide for themselves, without outside interference, what was best for the community.

Miner Pact

LONDON (UPI) — Leaders of Britain's striking miners called on maintenance workers to return to their jobs today following approval of a $230 million wage package to end a crippling, 3½ week coal walkout.

Union officials reached an accord with the state-run National Coal Board last night to end the miners' strike, which brought economic chaos to Britain and toppled the government of former Prime Minister Edward Heath.

Officials said new Prime Minister Harold Wilson, armed with the coal pact, hoped to get Britain on a full work week Monday after more than two months of limiting industrial operations to three days weekly.

The pact, providing average pay hikes of almost 30 per cent, gave the high-paid night pit workers a $37.50 increase to $103.50 weekly, the first time coal pay has topped the $100 mark. The low-paid surface workers received a $15.43 raise to $73.60.

Border Talks

BEIRUT (UPI) — Iran and Iraq have begun talks to cool the tense situation along their joint borders and end three days of clashes, political sources said today.

The sources said Iranian Ambassador Hussein Zada met in Baghdad with Iraqi political leader Saddam Hussein for 75 minutes of talks about the sporadic but heavy frontier fighting between the two oil-producing nations.

Troops from the two countries battled with tanks, mortars and artillery yesterday in what Iran's government news agency described as a heavy flareup of their long-standing border dispute.

Iranian news reports said 50 to 100 Iraqi troops were killed in the past 72 hours of battle. An Iraqi military communique said only nine of Baghdad's troops were wounded in the fighting.

'Inverted Streak'

DEVIL'S PUNCHBOWL, Ore. (UPI) — A spokesman for the "Fun in the Sun" nudist colony yesterday reported the first known case of an "inverted streak"—a man, fully clothed, was spotted running across the grounds.

IRS Rescinds A Tax Ruling On ITT Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Internal Revenue Service has rescinded a tax ruling that allowed International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. to acquire Hartford Insurance Co. in a $1.5 billion merger that became embroiled in Watergate.

The ruling allowed shareholders to make a capital gain without paying income taxes. Tax lawyers said the merger would probably have failed without the IRS exemption made in a 1969 ruling that was never made public.

ITT said it would withhold comment until the IRS decision to reverse itself could be studied.

ITT disclosed the tax order yesterday in asking the New York Stock Exchange to suspend trading on ITT and an affiliate, Avis Rent-A-Car. The order potentially could make ITT stockholders liable for deferred capital gains taxes.

The IRS gave no explanation for its new position, but tax lawyers said it seemed to involve ITT's sale of 1.7 million shares of Hartford stock as a prerequisite to a tax-free merger completed in 1970.

In the sale, to an Italian bank, ITT retained voting rights to the stock and guaranteed the bank would lose no money if Hartford shares declined in the market. In addition, ITT guaranteed the bank a profit of at least $425,000.

The IRS approved terms of the sale, but a U.S. Tax Court ruling in a similar case last April and prodding from Ralph Nader apparently caused the government to review the earlier decision. The court said a sale of stock is not complete until the owner assumes the risk of changing value in the market place.

Following the merger, one of the biggest ever, the Justice Department filed an antitrust suit asking that ITT divest itself of Hartford and five other companies.

In mid-1971, Justice settled out of court with ITT about the same time that ITT purportedly offered to help finance the 1972 Republican national convention with $400,000 in cash and services from a subsidiary hotel chain. The offer was withdrawn when the GOP convention site was moved from San Diego to Miami.

The White House denied the charges.

ANNOUNCES CABINET — Prime Minister Golda Meir announces her new cabinet to President Katzir in Jerusalem. Mrs. Meir told the president last night she was able to command a majority in the 120-member Knesset (parliament). She will present her new cabinet on Sunday. (UPI Telephoto)

Mrs. Meir Forms A New Cabinet

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Prime Minister Golda Meir announced the formation last night of a new coalition government, ending nine weeks of political crisis in Israel.

Mrs. Meir said she hoped to command a majority in the new parliament with the addition of the National Religious Party (NRP) to her Labor party coalition.

Political sources said Mrs. Meir has yet to complete her new cabinet, but it would remain essentially the same as the old one. She was scheduled to present the cabinet ministers to parliament Sunday.

A smiling Mrs. Meir, wearing a blue-checked suit, went to President Ephraim Katzir's hilltop residence late yesterday to report success in forming a new coalition that should command 68 of the 120 seats in parliament.

The 75-year-old prime minister told newsmen National Religious party leaders gave "a positive answer" to her pleas for them to remain in her government despite past threats to leave.

The party, which holds 10 seats in parliament, had previously refused to stay on as a member of the ruling coalition because of a dispute with Labor party leaders over religious law.

Both the religious party and Dayan's Labor party faction had also wanted Mrs. Meir to bring the rightwing Likud bloc into the government. She had refused, claiming Likud would paralyze peace talks with the Arabs.

Until the religious party's turnabout, which must still be ratified by its central committee, Mrs. Meir had expected to form a minority government holding only 58 seats in the parliament.

In addition to the religious group, other members of the coalition were the small Independent Liberal party and a tiny bloc of Arab legislators affiliated with Labor.

The deadlock on forming a new government broke following Israeli press reports Tuesday night of Syrian troops massing along the Golan Heights cease-fire lines and threatening a new outbreak of war.

Military sources said Israeli units along the Golan Heights were on full alert, but the exact nature of the reported Syrian threat was not disclosed.

Defense Minister Moshe Dayan and his supporters joined religious party leaders yesterday in citing the reported Golan Heights tension as the reason for reluctantly deciding to remain in Mrs. Meir's government.

Nixon Offers 'Payoff' Testimony

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon says he is prepared to testify under oath that he rejected as "wrong" payments of hush money or offers of executive clemency to the original seven Watergate burglary defendants.

His statement in effect contradicted a grand jury which has indicted his former aide H.R. Haldeman for testifying the President rejected the payments as "wrong."

"I know what I said, I know what I meant, I know what I did," Nixon told a news conference last night.

The President was cool, confident, sometimes sarcastic and at times displayed humor as he submitted to a variety questions for the second time in 10 days. He touched on the energy crisis, politics, the Mideast, the economy, and food prices, though most of the conference dealt with Watergate.

He discussed the meeting last March 21 when he said he first learned of the Watergate cover-up. He said he recalled telling Haldeman and former White House counsel John W. Dean at the meeting that "it's wrong, that's for sure."

The grand jury indicted Haldeman for perjury after listening to a tape of the meeting, and Nixon conceded that others listening to the tape or reading a transcript could reach a difference conclusion.

But, Nixon declared: "I never at any time authorized clemency for the defendants. I never at any time authorized payment of money to any of the defendants."

Asked why a payment of $75,000 was made to the Watergate defendants on the same day he rejected such payoffs, Nixon disclaimed any knowledge of it. "All I have information on is as to my own actions and to my own directions," he said.

On other top issues he said:

"The back of the energy crisis has been broken." In sustaining his veto of the emergency energy bill, the Senate "vetoed longer gas lines and vetoed rationing of gasoline."

Progress in the U.S.-mediated negotiations in the Middle East "will inevitably have a constructive effect" on any decision the Arab states make on ending their oil embargo against the United States. But he refused to flatly forecast an imminent end to the embargo as has been reported in some quarters.

Food prices will be held "in check" by a bumper record wheat crop this summer and fuel prices should level off by mid-year. He repeated his prediction there will be no economic recession.

Gloomy predictions of heavy Republican congressional seat losses in 1974 will prove to be wrong. He said that special elections such as the GOP defeat in the Cincinnati race are no indicator of the future, but conceded Watergate "might have" had an effect. Republicans have lost three out of four special elections so far this year.

House GOP Leader John Rhodes, Ariz., said that by holding this and his earlier news conference Nixon "has dispelled the myth that he is cowering in some White House corner. It appears that a watershed has been passed with Watergate and that the President has opted for disclosure and cooperation."

Following up statements by his Watergate lawyers earlier in the day, Nixon told reporters he would turn over to the House Judiciary Committee all the material provided to the special prosecutor and grand jury. The committee had asked for more materials than that. It meets today.

He also said he was willing to answer written questions from the committee, which is conducting an impeachment inquiry, and to answer questions put to him under oath in the White House by the committee's chairman and ranking Republican member.

He left open the question of whether he would submit to questioning by the committee in a public forum.

Nixon insisted that "at all times it had been my goal to have a complete disclosure of this whole (Watergate) situation, because as you know, I have said there can be no cloud over the White House.

"I want that cloud removed," he added.

To turn over all the information the impeachment panel might seek would not speed the inquiry, Nixon said, but would permit the committee to "paw through it in a fishing expedition."

Nixon repeated that he first learned of the cover-up on March 21, not Sept. 15 as Dean has testified.

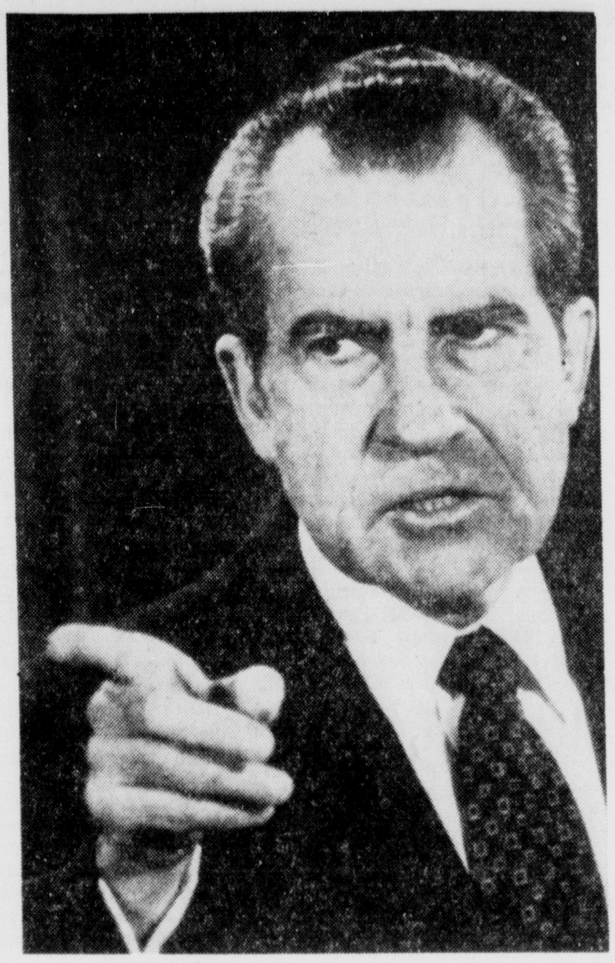

As for why he did not consider "blowing the whistle" on his former aides as soon as he learned of the cover-up, the President said:

"I felt it was my responsibility to conduct my own investigation with all of the assistance I could get from those who could provide information before moving to what would be a proper way of getting this story out to the country."

The President made these additional points:

He opposes public financing of Presidential campaigns but will send Congress on Friday legislation to control campaign contributions und to provide a way for candidates to defend themselves against unfair slurs by the press or their opponents.

He conceded that perjury or obstruction of justice would be impeachable offenses, but reaffirmed his belief that the judiciary committee will not find "the President guilty of any of these crimes." To the questioner, he added with sarcasm: "I also quit beating my wife."

SENATE LAUDED — Declaring "the back of the energy crisis has been broken," President Nixon yesterday said the Senate had vetoed longer gasoline lines and rationing when it voted to sustain his veto of an emergency energy bill. The President's statement came at a White House news conference.

Reelected Speaker Is 'Dragged In'

LONDON (UPI) — When John Parker, a Labor Party legislator, yesterday proposed the reelection of Selwyn Lloyd for a new term as speaker of the House of Commons, everyone in the crowded chamber knew he would have to be dragged into it.

The vote was unanimous, and when Parker and Sir Derek Walker-Smith, a Conservative, walked across the House and closed in on Lloyd, he protested coyly, fending them off for a moment. Then he was dragged bodily by both arms and shoved into the high-backed speaker's chair.

His apparent reluctance is dictated by tradition, for in past centuries, when the speaker was the representative of Commons to the king or queen, he was more than once threatened with his life by an irate sovereign.

The speaker's job carries a $29,900 salary, and a vast apartment in the Houses of Parliament, but there is one drawback —political neutrality. The speaker is the one representative who normally cannot speak.

Impeachers Told Nixon Won't Yield Everything

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Judiciary Committee was told today that President Nixon has refused to yield all the evidence sought for its impeachment inquiry.

John M. Doar, special counsel for the committee's impeachment proceedings, reported that Nixon was willing to surrender only material dealing with Watergate but has rejected —at least for the time being — requests for other material, including some White House tapes.

Doar made his report after the committee voted unanimously to insist that it be given a sealed grand jury report on Nixon's handling of the Watergate case.

Rep. Robert F. Drianan, D-Mass., moved to subpoena the requested tapes and documents but Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., convinced Drinan to withdraw his motion to avoid an immediate confrontation on the issue.

In advance of Doar's report, some members said they were ready to vote to subpoena the materials sought by the committee staff for its investigations. Doar said Tuesday the committee was looking into 55 separate areas, many of them having no relation to Watergate.

Doar said James D. St. Clair, Nixon's chief Watergate lawyer, rejected some of the committee's request for material in a letter dated yesterday.

He said St. Clair made three points:

That the "case against the President" involved Watergate alone.

That the committee needed no White House evidence other than materials furnished special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

That he was confident the House panel, after examining the evidence, would exonerate Nixon.

The committee voted to tell Federal Judge John J. Sirica that it needs the sealed report for its inquiry into whether grounds exist for impeaching Nixon.

The President has offered to provide the committee White House materials —including tape recordings and written documents —that he gave the Watergate prosecutor's office and also said he was willing to answer both written and oral questions.

Jury Demands More Hospital Care Funds

In a strongly worded letter to the state health and welfare secretary, the Marin County Grand Jury has called for greater state aid to convalescent hospitals caring for Medi-Cal patients.

The letter, signed by Grand Jury Foreman F. Charles Ruegg, said the state's "deficit reimbursement" is causing nursing homes to charge private patients more to make up for losses in caring for the poor.

"We think it is unconscionable for the burden to be shifted to those paying for the same quality of care from their own private funds," the letter said. It was addressed to James E. Jenkins, secretary of the state health and welfare agency.

"In spite of documentary evidence assembled by staff members of your department," the grand jury said, "the state's funding schedule for convalescent hospitals continues at an unrealistic level."

According to Tim Egan, president of the Marin County chapter of the Association of Health Facilities, the state reimburses convalescent hospitals about $16.45 per patient per day for those on Medi-Cal.

Egan, who operates the Rafael Convalescent Hospital in Santa Venetia, said actual costs are about $20 per patient day and are skyrocketing with inflation. He said the costs vary depending on the number of beds filled in each hospital.

He said there are about 1,100 convalescent beds in Marin, 70 to 80 per cent of them filled with Medi-Cal patients.

The grand jury urged Jenkins to "cut through the red tape or indifference which is preventing the state from dealing fairly with its citizens."

It said the state's continued inaction is undermining public confidence in government.

Wholesale Costs Rise In February

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Higher costs of food, fuels and metals pushed wholesale prices up an average of 1.5 per cent in February, the government reported today. The increase was the smallest advance in four months —suggesting a slowdown in the nation's worst inflation since right after World War II —but still was at an annual rate of increase of 18 per cent.

After adjustment for seasonal factors, wholesale prices only went up 1.2 per cent last month, or at an annual rate of 14.4 per cent.

The 1.5 per cent unadjusted increase in February was less than half the January advance of 3.5 per cent, which was exceeded since 1946 only by a 5.8 per cent jump last August.

President Nixon conceded at a news conference yesterday that inflation is a sticky problem but forecast improvement later in the year.

Wholesale price fluctuations usually precede similar trends at the retail level.

The February increase left wholesale prices 0.3 per cent above a year earlier. It will mean a continuing rise in retail prices in the coming days, weeks and months as the higher wholesale prices are passed down to consumers.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said wholesale prices of farm products and processed foods and feeds rose 1.6 per cent in February.

But that was considerably slower than the increase of 5.8 per cent in January and a record 17.6 per cent jump last August immediately following the lifting of President Nixon's second price freeze.

Gasoline prices jumped 9.5 per cent while crude oil prices shot up 13 per cent. Costs of electric power, natural gas and coal as well as most refined petroleum products also went up, but prices for light and middle distillate fuels declined.

Wholesale industrial commodity prices went up 1.4 per cent last month, less than the 2.5 per cent increase in January.

The BLS said about 70 per cent of the overall increase in the wholesale price index (WPI) in February was due to food, fuels and metals.

Tam Valley Park Plan Is Presented

A preliminary park plan for Tamalpais Valley, including possible sites for tennis courts, playing fields and a swimming pool, was presented last night to the Tamalpais Parks and Recreation Commission.

Commission chairman Mary Fesler said that the study done by the firm of Royston, Hanamoto, Beck and Abey will be discussed by the Tamalpais Community Services District board at its Monday meeting and will be presented again at a special public hearing with the date yet to be announced. She said the district probably will survey residents by mail as well to see if they want to go ahead with the plans.

She said the study suggested using the property at Tamalpais Valley School as a ballfield; using Eastwood Park for tennis courts and a grassy playing field; Rhubarb Park for picnicking and daycamping, and some district property on Poplar Street for a swimming pool.

The commission last night also discussed a proposed contract with the Mill Valley School District under which the services district would pay for building the ballfield at the Tamalpais school.

CROWE

"My son's actions are not at all those reported. I cannot give the true facts now. I will make them available in due course. The truth will come out."

Bales added that Mrs. Laidley, who witnessed the scrap, is unable to say who struck the first blow.

The fight capped a bitter city council election in which Crowe's supporters on the council — Robert R. Souza and Lee Nelder — were ousted from office and three candidates who have vowed to fire Crowe were elected.

Crowe, saying the election "absolutely shocked me," said he is uncertain about his future plans. "No, I haven't made a decision one way or the other on what to do," he said.

"Prior to this incident, I had intended to call every councilman and tell them that I'll get everything up together in ship shape and get the budget put together . . . and they can recruit for someone and I'll look for another job," Crowe said.

Crowe said he expects to appear in the Fairfax Women's Club at 8 p.m. Tuesday, when the new council will be seated.

Councilman-elect Garrison, meanwhile, said one of the first orders of business on Tuesday will be to fire Crowe.

Tax Exemption For Donors Of Blood Favored

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The California Medical Association was on record today as favoring a tax exemption for blood donors.

In a resolution passed in the CMA's annual meeting, the doctors recommended a tax credit of $30 per unit of blood donated, despite a recommendation against the idea by the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank.

The blood bank said the credit was "not sound public policy" because it was based on a financial reward for blood giving.

But the CMA voted its approval for the proposed law Tuesday, contending that "any incentive should be pursued.

WATER

ernment since 1966, said "the next 10 years will be critical ones" in balancing water supply with controlled growth, which she favors.

"I favor the present moratorium on new water connections as a logical means to address short-term problems," the candidate said. "But long-term solutions are obviously the goal."

She said she supports the district's efforts to promote water conservation and to study alternate sources of water supply.

"Recycling of water, reclaiming wastewater for nondomestic uses such as agricultural irrigation would involve careful land use planning and open space preservation, as well as strengthening the viability of agriculture in West Marin," she said.

She and her husband, Dr. P. Dunlap Smith, have lived in Marin since 1954 and at the family home at 10 Barner Lane since 1955. They have six children.

Mrs. Smith is a graduate of Smith College with a degree in English.

Besides serving on the county parks and recreation commission, she has been active in conservation and open space causes.

Mrs. Smith worked for the formation of the county open space district in 1972 and is currently chairman of the Forum on Environmental Quality, a member of the Tiburon open space committee, environmental quality committee of the city-county planning council, Friends of Ring Mountain and Golden Gate National Recreation Area Trails Committee.

The water district, she continue, cannot by law usurp the planning functions of local government. However, she added, "it also cannot ignore environmental and public concerns but be responsive and accountable to city and county general plans."

Mrs. Smith said she opposed the Sonoma aqueduct measure in 1971 and the Russian River measure last year "because of their detrimental implications for Marin ecology."

"I favor reexamining the Russian River water supply project and reducing its size and scope . . . This would be preferable to building another reservoir at Walker Creek in Marin, witn its harmful environmental consequences on the Tomales Bay area."

Walker, 54, a self-described moderate, sees himself as a conciliator between conservationists and pro-development forces.

"There has been too much pendulum swinging . . . sometime it has to hit dead center," he said.

He is against any single agency controlling growth, favoring zoning imposed by the cities and county to determine future population increase.

He would modify through "progressive legislation" the current moratorium on new water connections. "Certain numbers of new connections should be available, while at the same time we must get some legislation with teeth in it to penalize those who are wasting water," he said.

Walker, a consultant for Security Maintenance of Marin in San Rafael, supports construction of the proposed Warm Springs Dam in Sonoma County as "an important part of our future water supply."

A resident of Mill Valley 22 years, he and his wife live at 303 Laverne Avenue. They have no children.

Fair Skies Expected Tomorrow

March continued to act lionish today, buffeting Marin and Southern Sonoma with wind and rain.

But the weatherman predicted a change to lamb-like behavior tomorrow — with mostly fair skies.

Temperatures will be in the 50s tomorrow. Cooler weather is expected tonight, with lows in the upper 30s to mid 40s.

The counties will experience winds of up to 20 miles an hour today, increasing to 30 miles tomorrow.

Bolinas had the most rain — .78 of an inch — in the 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. today. Other rainfall: Sausalito, .30; Tamalpais Valley, .57; Mill Valley, .55; Corte Madera, .35; Larkspur, .42; Novato, .25; Fairfax, .70; San Anselmo, .71; Petaluma, .19 and Woodacre, .63.

By 11 a.m. today San Rafael had reported .53 of an inch.

INDICT

designed to conceal the involvement of officials and employes of the United States Government."

Colson issued a statement pledging to fight "to clear my name."

"It is not easy to stand accused a second time in as many weeks," Colson said. "Hard as it will be to overcome the inevitable public presumption arising from a second indictment, the fact is that I am innocent. I will fight to establish that—and to clear my name."

Named as unindicted coconspirators were Egil Krogh Jr., one of the leaders of the Plumbers who already has pleaded guilty on the civil liberties charge; David R. Young' the other head of the Plumbers; and E. Howard Hunt, who also helped mastermind the Ellsberg burglary. Young and Hunt were granted immunity in the investigation.

The Ellsberg break-in took place on the Labor Day weekend in 1971—almost a year before the break-in at Democratic national headquarters in the Watergate complex. The target of the "Plumbers" was the psychiatric records of Ellsberg, the former State Department aide charged with leaking the Pentagon Papers to newspapers.

Ellsberg was indicted for theft of the papers on June 28, 1971, but last May 11 the charges were dismissed because of the burglary and a government wiretap on Ellsberg's phone.

According to today's indictment, Ehrlichman lied when he told the grand jury repeatedly on May 14 that he learned of the break-in only after it had happened.

The indictment also charged that Ehrlichman last March 27 —at the time the Watergate cover-up began to unravel— removed memoranda related to the Ellsberg break-in from the White House files.

The indictment charged that Colson arranged for payment of $5,000 in political contributions from milk producers to be given Krogh for payment to the Ellsberg burglars.

A Los Angeles County grand jury has indicted Ehrlichman, Liddy and David R. Young, a former White House aide who helped lead the "plumbers" unit on charges of conspiracy and burglary in the Ellsberg case. Trial is slated to begin

College Board Creates A New Faculty Secretary's Position

Deciding that secretarial jobs should be performed by secretaries and not administrators, Marin Community College District trustees last night created a new position to handle faculty and committee business.

Earlene Jones, district publicist, said the new job was created after trustees were told by college cabinet representatives that administrators including Supt. John A. Grasham were taking minutes at faculty and committee meetings.

The new secretary will be responsible for preparing meeting agendas, handling correspondence and taking meeting minutes. The position will be evaluated after June 30.

Mrs. Jones said the present faculty secretary will probably be transferred to the new position and receive a salary increase at the board's next meeting.

The faculty secretary was formerly a half-time secretary in the behavioral and social science departments and a new half-time secretary will have to be hired for that job.

Total increased salaries are estimated at about $1,300 throgh June, Mrs. Jones said.

The Marin Community College District board also:

GRANTS — Resubmitted application for 1974-75 federal grants in the following programs: nursing student loan and scholarship, $14,000; law enforcement education, $6,060; college library resources, $5,000.

PERSONNEL — Hired Grace Mitchell as a probationary instructor at Indian Valley Colleges for $14,716 a year and Virginia Havel as temporary instructor at College of Marin for $14,147 a year; notified nine temporary instructors that they may not be rehired next year, final decision to be made during budget deliberations; received the resignation of switchboard operator Carolyn Williams; and transferred counselor Merlin E. Olsen from College of Marin to Indian Valley Colleges.

SALARY — Deferred until March 20 consideration of request by part-time teachers that their salaries be based on those of fulltime teachers. Board members said they had not received or not had time to study all staff information on the proposal.

MILEAGE — Approved interim mileage increase for the district from 3 cents per mile to 13 cents per mile to conform with current rate paid by Marin County.

CLOSED — Met in closed session for almost three hours to discuss hiring personnel for the College of Marin and to discuss litigation over heating problems in new campus buildings and the Ross Valley flood control project but took no action.

CONTRACTS — Awarded contracts for independent study laboratory equipment to Adolph Gasse Inc., San Francisco, five projectors, $624.75; R. V. Butterworth Inc., Hayward, 16 projectors and miscellaneous equipment in four contracts, $6,034.87; McCurry A. V., Sacramento, four film strip projectors, $499.38.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to March 20 at 7:30 p.m. in room 101 of the College of Marin Science Center.

DDT Doomed

CANBERRA (UPI) — Recommendations have been made to the Australian government that the use of DDT as a pest controller among crops be phased out over a period of five years in Australia.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Student Smoking Bill Set Back

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A controversial bill designed to create student smoking areas on high school campus suffered a setback yesterday in the legislature.

As a result, the measure (SB71) by Sen. Arlen Gregorio, D-San Mateo, will again face a floor vote of the Senate and Assembly, which approved it earlier with no votes to spare.

Gregorio was set to take up the bill for final Senate action but disclosed that it was technically imperfect in the numbering of Education Code sections.

He asked for and received permission to have the mistake corrected by a Senate-Assembly conference committee. The measure then would have to be voted on again by both houses.

TAX BREAK

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill giving Californians a tax break for installing energy-saving devices in their homes was endorsed yesterday by the Senate Revenue and Taxation Committee.

The measure (SB1526) by Sen. Alfred E. Alquist, D-San Jose, was sent to the Finance Committee on a 6-3 vote.

The state Department of Finance estimated the bill could cost more than $1 million annually.

SMOG VARIANCES

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation permitting air pollution control districts to grant variances to local antismog regulations prior to a violation of the law was passed yesterday by the Senate.

Under current law, variances cannot be granted until the regulations have been violated.

The bill (SB1509) by Sen. John A. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, was sent to the Assembly on a 27-0 vote with no debate.

OPEN SPACES

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A 10-bill package aimed at strengthening state efforts to preserve agricultural and open space lands was introduced yesterday by Assemblyman John F. Dunlap, D-Napa.

Dunlap said the proposals (AB2850-59) are designed to respond to criticism of the Williamson Act, a 1965 law which permits landowners to contract with local governments to restrict their property to agricultural and open space uses in return for a reduced agricultural-use tax assessment.

CHEAPER DRUGS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Consumer legislation allowing pharmacists to dispense cheaper "generic" drugs in place of more expensive brand name products has been killed by a Senate committee.

The bill was designed to reduce the overall cost Californians pay for prescription medicines by permitting pharmacists to substitute less expensive but chemically equivalent drugs for the brand names commonly prescribed by doctors.

It was strongly opposed by the drug industry and some druggists.

A Bid Made For Secretary Of State

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Former state Corporations Commissioner Brian Van Camp has filed his candidacy papers to run for the Republican nomination for secretary of state.

Surrounded by a small group of supporters yesterday as he paid his $700 filing fee, Van Camp pledged to "make my campaign a model of the way the American political system should operate."

OFFER PLAN — Two suspected members of the Symbionese Liberation Army — Russell Little (left) and Joseph Remiro — claim they have a plan which could lead to the release of Patricia Hearst. The two, being held at San Quentin as a security measure in the Foster murder case in which they are charged, are demanding a live news conference to detail their plan. (UPI Telephotos)

Watergate 'Buggers' Released From Jail

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (UPI) — Two Cuban-Americans who helped carry out the Watergate bugging were released from a federal jail today and left here with their wives to resume life in Miami.

Eugenio R. Martinez and Virgilio R. Gonzalez walked out of the federal minimum security facility before dawn and joined their wives in a taxi for a short ride to Ft. Walton Beach, Fla., and a flight to Miami.

In Washington, it was reported that Martinez was among several persons expected to be named today in indictments by a Watergate grand jury in connection with the 1971 Los Angeles burglary of the office of Dr. Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

"I'm glad to be out," said Martinez. "I'm tired. I'm going to Miami."

Gonzalez said, "I will return to my life as it was before."

Both men, wearing sports shirts and slacks, looked rested and tanned.

Martinez, a real estate salesman, and Gonzalez, a locksmith, served 14 months on their one-to-four-year sentences.

Martinez, Gonzalez and two other Cuban-Americans — Bernard L. Baker and Frank A. Sturgis—were recruited by former White House consultant E. Howard Hunt Jr. to perform the Watergate bugging and were arrested in the act June 11, 1972.

All four men pleaded guilty to conspiracy, burglary, bugging and wiretapping in the case in January, 1973, but are now trying to withdraw their guilty pleas on grounds they were pressured to plead guilty and keep quiet.

"I think all of them feel what they suffered as a result of Watergate was a little disproportionate in relation to others," said attorney Daniel E. Schultz, who represents all four men. "I don't think bitter is the right word; I think they are still confused about what happened."

Barker and Sturgis were freed on bond last month while they appealed and are working in the Miami area—Barker as a real estate salesman and Sturgis as a construction worker. Martinez and Gonzalez also could have been released on bond, Schultz said, but elected to serve the rest of their time until parole so they would not have to return to prison should the appeal fail.

Painting Exhibit

An exhibit of paintings by Stinson Beach artist Cornelia Schulz will be shown Wednesday to April 12 at the Lester Gallery in Inverness.

Suspect SLA Members Draw Up Proposal For Patricia's Freedom

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Two suspected Symbionese Liberation Army (SLA) members, held on murder charges, have drawn up a proposal they say could lead to the safe release of kidnaped Patricia Hearst.

Joseph Remiro, 27, and Russell Little, 26, demanded that they be allowed to outline the program at a nationally televised "live press conference." They said they would not provide details until granted permission to meet with reporters.

In a letter dated Feb. 27 and broadcast last night by Berkeley radio station KPFA-FM, they charged that U.S. Atty. Gen. William Saxbe and FBI director Clarence Kelley actually "want Patricia Hearst to die.

"They are desperately trying to discredit the SLA in the eyes of this nation's hungry, oppressed people," the letter said. "We feel it is of the utmost importance to disclose this callous plan to the public in the hopes of averting the deaths of Patricia Hearst, those holding her and ourselves.

"A warning to the FBI: Even if you kill us and-or slaughter Patricia Hearst and those holding her we have made provisions to ensure that our suggestions (for her release) will be made public."

Miss Hearst, a 20-year-old art history major and daughter of San Francisco Examiner Editor and President Randolph A. Hearst, was kidnaped by the SLA Feb. 4 from her apartment near the University of California in Berkeley.

Hearst said yesterday he hoped to receive another communique from the SLA soon. The last communique was received 15 days ago, when his daughter said she was well in a tape recorded message.

Remio, a Vietnam veteran who became an antiwar activist, and Little, a onetime college student, were arrested in January after a shoot-out with police who had stopped their van in nearby Concord. Police said the van contained SLA literature.

They were charged with murder in the Nov. 6 assassination of Marcus A. Foster, the popular black school superintendent for the City of Oakland. The SLA said in letters to the news media that he was marked for death because he favored the use of computers to pinpoint school troublemakers.

The KPFA letter, taken by Public Defender James Jenner from San Quentin Priso where Remiro and Little are being held held, also charged they had been beaten while in custody and "set up" for assassination. The purpose of the alleged treatment, they explained, was to antagonize Miss Hearst's captors to the extent they would kill her.

FBI agents and state Department of Corrections officials denied the prisoners' charges.

"We didn't have anything to do with it," Special Agent Charles W. Bates said. "We don't have anything to do with Romero and Little. They are state prisoners."

The letter said the proposals for Miss Hearst's release were drawn up after a meeting with "Death Row Jeff," whom they described as a longtime friend. Sources said "Death Row Jeff" was Clifford Jefferson, a lifer at Folsom Prison who had been befriended by the two men while they were active in the prison reform movement.

Remiro and Little said state Corrections Director Raymond Procunier arranged for the three inmates to have a conference. A spokesman for Procunier would neither confirm nor deny there was ssch a meeting.

Meanwhile, volunteers in the People in Need food program—set up by Hearst as a prerequisite for the release of his daughter at the demand of the SLA—worked to open 12 distribution centers tomorrow.

Food has been distributed three times. Officials of the PIN said that so far $750,000 had been spent for the groceries.

Vesco Aide Tells Of Contribution

NEW YORK (UPI) — The government's key witness testified today that the president of financier Robert L. Vesco's top company had delivered a $200,000 1972 campaign gift to Maurice H. Stans and then said that Vesco "would like to get some help."

The testimony was a dramatic early climax to the government's case against Stans, former secretary of commerce in the Nixon administration, and former Attorney General John N. Mitchell.

The witness was Harry L. Sears, a New Jersey Republican politician and friend of Mitchell who was a Vesco employe at that time. It was his third day as a star government witness in the federal court trial of the two former poerful Nixon administration figures on charges of conspiring to impede a federal investigation of Vesco in exchange for a secret $200,000 cash donation to the 1972 Nixon campaign — and of lying to the grand jury about it.

Sears said he and Laurence B. Richardson, president of the Vesco company, went to see Stans shortly after 11 a.m. on April 10, 1972, in Stans' Washington office. Stans was chairman of the finance committee for the reelection of the president.

After showing Stans the $200,000 in an opened briefcase, Sears said, Richardson said to Stans:

"Mr. Vesco wants me to give you a message —he'd like to get some help."

Sears continued his narrative:

"Mr. Stans replied, 'tell him that's not my bailiwick. That's John Mitchell's department.'

"I jumped up and said: 'Now wait a minute. What we have brought here today is a political contribution. And nothing else.'

"Then I said: 'I think we'd better leave. Mr. Stans is busy.'

"We took the elevator and when we got down we stopped and chatted.

"I said: 'Larry, what the hell was all that about?'

"He said: 'I really think Bob (Vesco) would have wanted me to deliver a message stronger.'"

Sears said that at 1 p.m. that day he went, by previous appointment, to see Mitchell, who was then the Nixon campaign director.

"I told Mr. Mitchell that I had in the company of Richardson met with Mr. Stans and we had delivered the contribution," Sears said. "I told him that Bob had decided to deliver $250,000 and that I had recommended the break-off of $50,000 of that to be delivered publicly to the New Jersey Republican campaign fund.

"I said: 'We delivered $200,000 today. I hope Maury (Stans) knows what he's doing.'

"Mr. Mitchell replied: 'I'm sure Maury knows his business."

Richardson was president of Vesco's International Controls Corp. (ICC), against which the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) had launched a vigorous investigation.

Sears, the former New Jersey GOP chairman, has been granted immunity from prosecution in exchange for his testimony.

Stans and former Attorney General John N. Mitchell are accused of trying to impede that investigation in exchange for the biggest cash contribution of the campaign—Vesco's—and of lying to the grand jury here about it.

Arrest Made In Heroin Sale

SEASIDE (UPI) — Narcotics agents yesterday arrested a 55-year-old Carmel resident on charges of selling heroin valued at $60,000.

Seaside police described the suspect, Kang-Shun Liang as a "major central California narcotics figure."

He was arrested on four charges of heroin sales following a six month investigation by undercover agents, police said. Bail was set at $50,000.

Liang was already on probation in connection with a stolen property charge in 1972, police said.

Fall Injuries Are Fatal To San Quentin Inmate

A San Quentin Prison inmate died early today, apparently of injuries suffered when he jumped from the fourth tier of the South cellblock Monday afternoon.

Gene W. Anderson, 46, was pronounced dead at 4:25 a.m. in the prison hospital, according to the Marin County coroner's office. Doctors had not considered his condition critical; Anderson suffered a broken leg and other, lesser injuries in the fall, investigators said.

The leap was not reported by the prison under a policy of reporting only felony incidents, according to William D. Nyberg, prison information officer.

Anderson was sentenced in Los Angeles last April after being convicted of second-degree murder in the death of his wife. He was a native of Iowa, and is survived by a brother, Tal Anderson in Iowa. He was a former nurse and auto salesman.

Funeral arrangements were pending today at Daphne's Chapel in Corte Madera.

Tiburon To Get Parcel Of Land

The Marin County Housing Authority will donate a parcel of land to the City of Tiburon for open space, the authority board decided last night.

The excess property — 2.57 acres — is adjacent to the Hilarita Housing project, accoridng to Paul E. Nixon, the authority program division manager.

In other action, the board adopted rent collection procedures for public housing and increased a quorum of the board from three to four members since the board has grown from five to seven persons.

Northgate Lions Honored By Fair

The Northgate Lions Club today received a plaque from the Marin County Fair for its work in handling the fair parking lot for the past three years, according to club president Dr. James R. Rideout.

The club has given the money it made on the parking lot concession to local charities such as the Marin County Diabetes Association, Transcribing Mariners, Young Men's Christian Association and various scout troops, Rideout said.

PROVIDING A HAPPY INTERLUDE

President Nixon, who vetoed the energy bill yesterday, said the Senate in sustaining it "vetoed longer gas lines and vetoed rationing of gasoline." The point may have been well taken in Washington, but long lines to pumps continued yesterday in San Francisco. "Toad the Mime" (Antoinette Attell) tried to ease the pain of waiting in line with her mimic of the station attendant. It is not known if her antics took any of the curse off the waiting.

Personality Suit Filed On Dog Bite

An attack by a dog six years ago caused a Larkspur boy to undergo a personality change that has led him to frequent scrapes with the law, according to a lawsuit filed yesterday.

The suit seeks $200,000 in damages for William J. Tadder, now 16, of 52, of 52 Millard Road. It was filed in Marin Superior Court.

Tadder's suit claimed he was walking his bicycle near his home on May 11, 1968, when he was bitten on the face and jaw by a German shepherd belonging to Julie Schmidt of Larkspur.

As a result, "he has undergone a marked emotional change resulting in an antisocial behavioral problem, which has caused the plaintiff on diverse occasions to be taken into custody at Juvenile Hall in the county of Marin and at the California Youth Authority," according to the suit.

The suit asks $100,000 from the dog's owner for pain and suffering and another $100,000 to compensate for his "emotional change."

A High-Speed Chase Ends With Arrests

A Novato man driving a stolen car was arrested last night after a high speed chase on southbound Highway 101 that ended when the car swerved off the Marinwood offramp.

Novato police arrested the driver, Clarence Edward West, 19, of 790 Tamalpais Avenue, on suspicion of auto theft, reckless driving, driving with a suspended license, resisting arrest and contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Police said the chase, which reached speeds of 90-95 miles an hour started after an officer approached the car which was behind the Ignacio Shopping Center with its lights out at 11:45 p.m.

As the officer neared, the car lights went on and it sped off on Entrada Drive, then south on Highway 101 to the Marinwood offramp, where it failed to make the turn at 75 miles an hour.

West and a passenger, a 15-year-old boy from San Rafael, attempted to flee on foot, police said.

The car, registered to Ken Paul Selberg of 5 Villa Maria Drive, Novato, had been taken last night from a gasoline station at 1549 South Novato Boulevard where it had been left for servicing, police said.

West was booked at Marin County Jail and bail set at $1,250. The juvenile, charged with possession of burglary tools, auto theft and resisting arrest, was cited to Juvenile Hall.

Historical Site Hearing Is Scheduled

A hearing on an ordinance to preserve historical buildings has been set by the Petaluma Planning Commission for March 19.

Although a public hearing on the matter was scheduled for the commission's Tuesday meeting, it was postponed because members of the mayor's select committee on historical preservation, proponents of the ordinance, were unable to attend, as was Planning Director Frank B. Gray, who helped draft a preliminary copy of the ordinance.

The ordinance would set guidelines for establishment of historical building districts in older areas of Petaluma, regulations for continued preservation of designated buildings and penalties for violations, according to Gray.

The Peatluma Planning Commission also:

WIDENING — Determined that widening South McDowell Boulevard from McKenzie Avenue to Caulfield Lane will not have significant environmental impact.

DUPLEX — Granted permission to Stephen G. Belloumini to move a two-story duplex residence onto a lot at 2 Sixth Street.

STREET — Authorized Larry Venturi to build a private street to serve three proposed residential lots at Schuman Lane.

REPAIR — Granted a rear setback variance to Lawrence J. Beal so he can build an automotive repair building on the west side of Lakeville Street between D and Jefferson streets.

Stinson Beach Sewer Plans Are Abandoned

In the wake of Tuesday's defeat at the polls, the Stinson Beach County Water District last night officially abandoned plans for a $2.5 million sewage disposal system for the community.

The board voted to cancel all existing contracts with Brown and Caldwell, engineering firm which had been working on the project, according to Director John L. Jones.

(To date, the district has spent approximately $270,000 for engineering for various disposal systems, all of which have now been scrapped. Most of the money was spent by the previous board on an $8.2 million system which later was killed by the state.)

District voters turned out in record numbers Tuesday to defeat a measure to increase the district property tax rate and borrow state money to finance the sewer plant and collection system.

"When 72 per cent of the voters turn out, then, my God, the people certainly have spoken," Jones said. (The vote was 146 in favor of the tax hike and loan application and 205 opposed.)

He said the water district board also voted last night to bring in a septic tank specialist from Berkeley to find out what can be done about the community's failing tanks.

"We need to find out what the community can do with what it's got," Jones said.

Because of pollution caused by its septic tanks, the community is currently under a building ban imposed by the Regional Water Quality Control board. The regional agency has also said that, unless a waste treatment system is in operation by 1977 in Stinson Beach, some property owners with failing tanks may face legal action which could force them out of their homes.

The Stinson water district is also expected to explore a plan, by opponents of the sewage disposal system, to establish a septic tank district which would make it possible to correct failing tanks and maintain others in good order.

IRS Rules On Stations' Extras

It is illegal for service station operators to require customers to pay for such extras as car washes when they buy gasoline — unless they made the exact same requirement in May 1973.

This was the answer yesterday of a spokesman for the Internal Revenue Service to complaints that a San Rafael car wash was demanding that patrons pay $2.29 for a wash job after buying gasoline.

An angry motorist told the Independent-Journal that customers were not being warned ahead of time that this would be necessary.

The IRS spokesman said that service station operators may only require such purchase of services or merchandise that were required as part of gasoline sales on May 15, 1973.

Meanwhile, the dismal gasoline situation in Northern California shows no signs of easing next week, according to the California State Automobile Association.

For those who can find enough gasoline to get out of the Bay Area, there are far more readily available supplies of fuel in the mountain, north coastal and central valley areas. The situation in urban Southern California is much the same as in the Bay Area, where hundreds of thousands of commuters make long drives each day.

(Marin's problem is compounded, according to local service station operators, by commuters from Sonoma County who leave their homes before gasoline stations are open in the morning. They then stop in Marin, especially in the Novato area, to gas up on their way to work.)

When they are joined by local commuters along with housewives waiting for early morning gasoline sales, lines become sometimes blocks long.

Police in the various cities of Marin are patrolling areas around service stations, keeping cars from blocking driveways and intersections. "And we assist the service station operators when they close so they don't get killed," added Charles J. Mattos, Larkspur police captain.

In San Rafael, Police Chief Joseph J. Brusatori's men are drafting a suggestion that the city council establish towaway zones on streets surrounding busy service stations. By reserving curb lanes for waiting cars, the traffic lanes would be kept clear.

Any action on the proposal probably will wait until after next week when it can be determined if the odd-even plan brings shorter lines.

Marin County will go to a voluntary odd-even gasoline sales plan next Monday, with most stations expected to cooperate in selling gasoline in accordance with numbers of license plates.

The plan will be tried for several weeks to determine if it will cut down the length of waiting lines at stations.

In Petaluma last night, representatives of most of the city's 45 service stations met with city officials and agreed to form an ad hoc committee to deal with the gasoline shortage.

The dealers also agreed to adopt the odd-even plan on a voluntary basis beginning next week.

The ad hoc committee will establish procedures to assure sufficient gasoline for those who have bona fide emergencies, according to Police Chief Larry D. Higgins.

Higgins also said that an official of the IRS told the dealers and officials at the meeting that the "by appointment only" system being used by several Petaluma gas stations is illegal.

"He said it would 'probably be all right' if they honored the appointments they already have through March 15," Higgins said.

ODD AND EVEN — Chart by Independent-Journal artist Jack Lucey shows which license plates will get gasoline on which day beginning Monday in Marin County. A similar system is in effect in Sonoma County. On Monday, owners of cars with odd-numbered licenses may gas up. The determining factor is the last number on the plate — it it's one, three, five, seven or nine the vehicle is eligible for gas the odd calendar days of the month, and so are vehicles with all-letter environmental plates. Licenses with last numbers of zero, two, four, six or eight are even-numbered. Under the plan drawn by Marin's independent service stations operators, commercial vehicles may gas up any day at stations where the firm has an account; otherwise they must follow the even-odd schedule. On Saturdays, all vehicles may gas up; no stations will be open on Sundays.

College Students Will Wash Cars

The Associated Sudents of Indian Valley Colleges will sponsor two car washes in Novato Saturday to benefit the Novato Human Needs Center.

The car washes from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. will be at John Regan's Shell station, 1390 South Novato Boulevard, and Cromwell's Chevron Station, 1549 South Novato Boulevard.

Election-Year Jitters Lead Senate To Kill Pay Increase

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Members of the Senate and House will have to struggle by on their $42,500 salaries —at least until next year, when there are no elections.

Wary of voting themselves a pay increase in an election year, the Senate by a wide margin yesterday rejected a raise that would have boosted salaries to $52,800 in a three-year period.

Additional victims of the Senate's austerity vote were high-ranking officials in the executive branch and federal judges.

All were in line for an automatic raise at midnight Saturday if the Senate had not acted to nullify the recommendations made by President Nixon on the advice of the government's pay commission.

In quick order, the Senate voted, 67 to 31, to limit debate and ward off the threat of a filibuster, then killed the pay proposals, 69 to 28.

Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., chairman of the Senate Civil Service Committee, said he would hold hearings on the always troublesome problem of voting on pay raises and promised a bill by January.

The terms of 34 senators expire this year. Of these, 28 are seeking re-election and among them only Sens. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Charles McC. Mathias Jr., R-Md. voted for the pay bill.

A typical ice storm occurs when temperatures are below 32 degrees and rain or drizzle falls, freezing on impact and sheathing everything with a glaze of ice.

ILLEGAL CATCHES

Fishing Net Is Defendant

The state of California filed suit yesterday against a fish net.

Named as defendant in the Marin Superior Court action was "one round hall net."

G. Ray Arnett, director of the California Department of Fish and Game, asked the court to declare the net a public nuisance and allow his department to sell or destroy it.

The suit said the net was being used illegally by a Pacific Grove boat captain, John Scardina, to catch herring in Richardson Bay Jan. 19.

Richard C. Jacobs, of the attorney general's office, said state law requires such forfeiture suits to name as respondent the object sought for seizure.

"The last time we filed something like this, it was against six crab nets with yellow floats," he said. "The judge nearly fell off the bench laughing when he read the title."

Modern Day Columbus Only Half Satisfied

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The Santa Maria, as every student knows, was Christopher Columbus' flagship which took him to a new land. It is also Armando Abril's, but he isn't seeing any land except through a porthole.

Abril, 23, wasn't attempting to discover much more than the adventure that was lacking in his life as a mechanic in Cartagena, Colombia — a country which, coincidentally, was named after the famed explorer.

Slipping aboard the cargo-passenger liner Santa Maria at night, Abril hid beneath deck cargo until the ship was well at sea. Then he surfaced and the ship's frustrated officials, representing the Prudential-Grace Lines, realized they'd be stuck with the intrpid explorer for weeks.

"In Venezuela, officials would not take him off without a letter from Colombian authorities," said William Knollman, the ship's captain. "In Brazil, Chile, Peru and Mexico they said we must send an escort if we wanted to send him home."

Abril, admitting he was remiss to stow away on the liner, nevertheless said Tuesday in Long Beach, where the ship is berthed, that he was happy aboard the ship but was hoping to find his way ashore to start a new life in the United States. But officials haven't let him off the ship without a passport.

So he'll stay on the ship and see the sites on the rest of his tour — San Francisco, Vancouver, Tacoma, Acapulco and Panama — from deckside.

New Therapeutic Center Is Seeking Furnishings

Members of Marin Parents for Mental Recovery, who will open a long-planned treatment center for young adult mental patients this month, are seeking furnishings and equipment for the facility.

The center, which is called Marin Lodge and is located at 424 Mission Avenue in San Rafael, will be a therapeutic 24-hour residential facility for patients, who will mainly be schizophrenics who have histories of repeated hospitalization for their problems.

The parents' organization has been working for more than two years to get such a facility in Marin.

Now the group needs such items as an electric typewriter, adding machine, vacuum cleaner, sewing machine, ironing board, gas kitchen stove, chests of drawers, dining tables and chairs, lamps, kitchen appliances and household tools and art equipment.

Beds have been donated by Presbyterian Hospital in San Francisco, according to Sally Braun, a member of the organization.

Donations of new or used equipment in good condition are tax deductible, she said.

Those who have articles they wish to donate may contact Marin Lodge.

Butz Urges A Drop In Beef Prices

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz urged supermarkets today to cut retail beef prices by reducing their record profit margins. A supermarket spokesman predicted prices will drop "in the next week or so."

Butz complained the consuming public "is getting hit with higher retail prices for beef at the same time farmers' prices are going down."

Clarence G. Adamy, president of the National Association of Food Chains, replied angrily after hearing Butz' statement that "the implication that retailers are profittering is a gross misstatement and one we deeply resent." Adamy said retail meat profits were "dangerously low," but added that recent declines in wholesale beef costs will be translated soon into lower retail prices.

Adamy warned, however, that he expects the consumer relief to be only temporary because he believes live cattle prices will recover from their present slump within a month or so.

Lindbergh Views The Environment

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Charles A. Lindbergh spoke yesterday with the trustees of the Lilly Endowment Inc. about his concern for "a balance of use and conservation" to preserve the world's environment.

It was from his flying experience, he later told reporters, that he observed the "slashing of forests, erosion of farmlands and polluting of streams."

"Environment and life are one and the same thing," he said, recalling that he never piloted a plane into a storm with the thought of doing battle with nature, but rather "confirming to nature."

Firm Fined For Illegal 1972 Gifts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Diamond International Corp. and an official of the match firm pleaded guilty today to making $6,000 in illegal contributions to the 1972 Nixon and Muskie campaigns.

The official, Ray Dubrowin, said the contributions were solicited by an official of the Transportation Department for President Nixon's reelection campaign and by a former governor of Maine for the unsuccessful effort by Sen. Edmund S. Muskie for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Dubrowin, vice president for public relations of the New York-based firm, was fined $1,000 and his company $5,000 by Federal Judge Howard F. Corcoran.

The guilty pleas were entered soon after filing of charges by Watergate prosecutors.

Federal law prohibits political contributions by corporations and labor unions.

After the brief court proceeding, Dubrowin said that the Nixon contribution had been solicited by Vincent Decain, whom he identified as a Transportation Department official. He said he had been solicited on behalf of Muskie by Kenneth Curtis, a former Democratic governor of Maine.

Prosecutors filed a criminal information charging that the company, with Dubrowin's consent, contributed $5,000 to the Finance Committee for the Re-election of the President and $1,000 to the Muskie campaign committee. The information charged the contributions were made between Dec. 13, 1971 and March 23, 1972.

Diamond, which manufactures matches and paper products, was the ninth company charged with making illegal 1972 campaign contributions by Watergate prosecutors.

Gould said the New York corporation had voluntarily disclosed its illegal contribution to prosecutors in January.

Gas Fumes Cause An Explosion

A stove pilot light which ignited gasoline fumes caused an explosion that blew the doors off a Sausalito garage yesterday and did $7,500 worth of damage, according to firemen.

The fire department reported that Mrs. Henry Knauber had filled the tank of her car and driven it into her garage at 195 San Carlos Avenue at about 10:45 a.m. Fumes from the car seeped into the house, firemen said, and were ignited by the pilot light.

Flames were brought under control in about 15 minutes but not before they had damaged the house, garage, furniture and auto.

Mrs. Knauber and her husband were home at the time but were not hurt.

Nixon Wants Better Protection on Libel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon plans to ask Congress for legislation to make it easier for political candidates and public officials to sue for libel, a White House official said today.

Nixon referred to his plan briefly at his news conference last night and the White House official, who asked not to be identified, said it would be discussed further in a message to Congress on election campaign reform tomorrow.

A White House official said that the President believes that political candidates "have to have some recourse to get better people in politics."

He said the Justice Department was preparing draft legislation which would ease Supreme Court rulings.

A 1964 decision by the court throwing out a libel judgment against the New York Times won by a Montgomery, Ala., city official said that deliberate malice must be clearly established in such cases.

Photographer Of Children Sees Adults As The Enemy

By PAT BALMES

"Before I go to take a picture, I am usually elated. I expect to like the person I am photographing. The children must feel that. They are relaxed and happy in my presence because I dig them," explained Georgia Longini of Mill Valley, who has been a professional photographer of children for 20 years.

Her photographs portray children with their thoughts turned inward, who seem oblivious to the camera. People often ask Mrs. Longini how she accomplishes that expression and suspect she uses a telephoto lens because the children seem to be unaware of her.

"My photography is art. I cannot have a formula; each person is an individual. The pictures show the children into themselves and not responding to me. It has to be total rapport; I like children," she said.

The photographer does not bring toys. She talks, but often it isn't necessary because the little ones talk to her. She needs to know what is going on in the child's mind, to get the feeling of the child, so she sends away parents and siblings.

She prefers to photograph children singly. If the parents want a group picture, she first talks to each child privately. Otherwise their rivalry will show, she said.

THE CHILD should be dressed in simple clothes or nude. She tries to discourage parents from having a child photographed in "Aunt Jane's dress" or a shirt with "Badger" printed across the front because it would distract attention.

A child's natural expression can be ruined by a grandmother with a hairbrush saying "smile," she added.

Working to please the parents, Mrs. Longini never records a child's anxiety or discomfort which would make the parents feel guilty, she said. She uses only natural light, often photographing children on the grass on Mount Tamalpais.

The photographer believes she has given parents a great deal of happiness by her portraits. Their pleasure is a large part of her own, she said.

A father wrote to her, "I am not a man who cries, but when I saw the pictures of my little girl my eyes filled with tears."

The photographer will photograph the child of the bidder who buys her services at Marin Country Day School Parents Group's gala auction to benefit the scholarship fund of the school in Corte Madera on Friday at 6 p.m. at St. Francis Yacht Club in San Francisco. Several hundred parents and friends of the school in Corte Madera are expected to bid on 250 items, goods and services.

Mrs. Longini believes little children enjoy themselves while being photographed, but to an adult she is the enemy. She must deal with that, she said, adding that she sees how beautiful the nervous person is. Then his face will relax and show its beauty.

POISED BEHIND her camera to catch the pleasing expression, she talks, questioning and listening. The photographer can see the tight facial muscles and knows it is up to her to bring the adult to a relaxed state.

In photographing a woman, who is probably worrying about her appearance, Mrs. Longini strives to record her joy and other positive emotions, not her tension.

Highly critical of her own work, Mrs. Longini devotes only part of her time to photography because "If I tried to do what I do eight hours a day, I would not be up to it. I have to be fresh."

She spends the rest of her time painting, writing and composing songs. Essentially she is a musician, she said, adding that painting is just as important to her as photography and writing is more so.

A native of Highland Park, Ill., Mrs. Longini reminisced about attending the Institute of Design in Chicago when she was 23 to study under its "superb instructors" and then quitting after only a few days because they wanted to tell her their ideas and she wanted to find her own way. She got an enlarger and a little book of instructions and taught herself.

"Many painters see somebody's work and want to be like that. I had no guru," she said. "It was something that I had to work out with myself.

She started by waiting for nightfall to darken the bathroom and then develop film in the bathtub. She finally figured out how to darken the room during the day, she said with humor.

Recently she refused to teach a photography class on KQED because she still does not feel technically proficient, even though she produces good pictures, she believes.

Those pictures are "sheer luck and I may never be able to do that again," she said with humility, pantomiming herself dragging along a heavy camera, hardly self-confident enough to lift her arm as she searched for subjects on assignment by advertising agencies.

A FAMOUS photographer, the late Edward Steichen, took her imaginative fashion photographs to the art director of Vogue magazine in New York and that was the beginning of many assignments from advertising agencies there.

"I did exactly what I am doing now and the New York advertising agencies dug it," she said. They used photographs of children she already had or asked for something and she would go out and do it in her own style.

Mrs. Longini moved to Marin 14 years ago, after seeing the area while she was the houseguest of author Henry Miller of Big Sur for several months. Pictures of Miller are among those she has collected in a large envelope marked "Yeah."

A collection that may someday be published in a "feelings book," the pictures are of joyous adult faces, a running child with windblown hair, cryptic snaps of signs that offend, and a touching picture of two old men walking and talking.

Choosing a photograph from the pile which depicted a day-dreaming teen-ager, the photographer said, "When it is successful, like this, the person is free, despite my presence, to go into themselves. It is not them being something for somebody else, like being sexy for a boyfriend."

CHILDREN PHOTOGRAPHED by Georgia Longini seem not to be aware of the camera, but to have their thoughts turned into themselves. The portrait of Sandra, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dartmond Cherk of Mill Valley, who was 6 when photographed, is a favorite of the self-taught Mrs. Longini. (Photo by Georgia Longini)

AMONG THE YOUNG

Self-Inflicted Deaths Are Up

By KAREN PETERSON

In the past four months, adolescent suicides in Marin have risen by 25 per cent, a suicide prevention spokesman Tuesday night told a group of women at the Young Women's Christian Association in San Rafael.

It is never too early to give a child the feeling of self-worth, emphasized Judy McIndoo of Marin Crisis and Suicide Prevention Service to more than 50 women, many of them members of the San Anselmo Cooperative Nursery Schoo, at "Sexism and Mental Health," a program in the YWCA Knowledge is Power series.

Mrs. McIndoo was one of a panel of speakers from various Marin counseling and mental health agencies who all agreed that before any social changes can be made for women, women themselves are going to have to gain self-respect.

Panelists speaking to the largest audience in the 10-week series were Mrs. McIndoo and Carol Blake from suicide prevention; Laura Foster, a psychologist at Sir Francis Drake High School; Beverly Abbott from Community Mental Health; Sheila Butler, a vocational counselor, and Linda Ginsberg of Marin Rape Crisis Center.

MRS. McINDOO reported that Marin County has the second highest suicide rate in the United States, and that the crisis center receives 700 calls a month, 20 per cent of which are in-progress suicide calls.

While women attempt suicide two to three times more than men, it's the man who actually succeeds in killing himself two to three times more than women, said Mrs. McIndoo.

WOMEN CAN RELEASE their emotions by crying, but men have been conditioned to keep their emotions inside, said Mrs. McIndoo. Even so, she added, the suicide rate is increasing rapidly for women as they go out in the work areas and take on larger responsibilities.

"Isolation is there, loneliness... an unawareness that other people have the same kinds of feelings and thoughts," she said. They feel they can't tell people their problems and think they must be weird, she added.

Why Marin? Mrs. McIndoo, who added that the typical suicide case is a 42-year-old white male, employed with two children, speculates that it is both a feeling of failure when a person cannot "make it" in San Francisco and loneliness. "You can be surrounded by people and still be incredibly lonely," she said.

Teen-age girls, said Miss Foster, have not really changed in the past 15 years. They still have the same concerns over peer and parent relationships, the world as a whole and themselves as individuals. "There's a lot of stress that girls have that boys don't," she said. "I see a lot of normal kids going through rough times."

GIRLS STILL compete with each other, she said, and that's unhealthy. Girls should not see other girls as apart from themselves, she said, adding it's bad for self-identity.

While she doesn't see as much pressure on girls to go steady today as in the past, Miss Foster still sees a "short-circuit" of dependency going from parents to a boy. "I feel it stunts growth," she said, "People have to become independent."

To Miss Abbott, a real problem arises for the woman who hasn't worked for a number of years and is now in a situation where either she wants or has to seek employment.

"Women have poor self-images, especially when it comes to looking for a job," said Miss Abbott, one of the founders of a vocational counseling service for women in Marin.

"We encourage women to go back to school and we encourage them to enter occupations that have never been open to women before."

The average American woman with a child will work for 27 years, she said, and because of this mothers should encourage their daughters when they are still young to think about what they want to do with their lives.

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

Brooding Mother Has Several Chances To Cope With Marriage

RAP:

My dad has been cheating on my mom for years, making a fool of her every chance he gets. He expects my older brother and me to still treat him like a king. He makes lots of money, but he can't earn our respect.

The problem is, Mom can't cope with life. She can't live with him or without him. He gets her crying almost all the time he's home, but when he's away, she's very lonely.

I've tried to get her interested in outside activities. She's active in one school organization, but she still has too much time to brood.

We two children will both be in college next year, and I worry about what will happen to her. Can you suggest anything to bring her back to life again? —CONCERNED DAUGHTER

C.D.:

A marriage counselor or a good psychologist might show your mother either how to salvage her marriage or turn her back on it.

What we have here, it seems, is a child-mother of adult children — but children can't stay around forever, shielding an immature parent from life. She must learn to make decisions, and an expert therapist is the best teacher. Find one fast. — HELEN

C. DAUGHTER:

And after therapy (or during it) why don't you suggest she enroll in some college courses? She'll sharpen up her mind while meeting new people —and these are two good starts toward growing up. — SUE

NOTE FROM H: — Your dad may not be the louse you think: two mismatched people can demolish one another; and a crying woman who "can't cope" could bring out the worst in almost any man. — HELEN

DEAR RAP:

I have a teacher who makes fools out of his pupils. He says if someone gives a stupid answer or asks a stupid question, he deserves a put-down, but I say we don't know they're stupid. When you're serious, it hurts to get laughed at, especially when you're considered pretty smart in other classes.

Dpn't you think this could stifle learning?

Should I tell him, or just clam up? — C.H.

DEAR C.:

Tell him. If the whole class backs you up, he won't laugh this time. — SUE

DEAR C.:

I once had a college English instructor who chilled me with his sarcastic remarks about my writing ability. But . . . I soon discovered his criticisms were teaching me more than did all those sugar-coated "A's" I noodled from other teachers.

Learn to fight back — I did. — HELEN

RAP:

I'm in college, but thinking ahead to where I want to live. Which state would you suggest? — S.O.

DEAR S.:

According to a recent study (done by the Midwest Research Institute of Kansas City, Mo.) six states are "excellent" in all-around quality of life. They are: California, Colorado, Connecticut, Washington, Oregon and Wyoming.

We're partial to California and Oregon because we've enjoyed living in both places. But any state is good or bad, depending on your job, the friends you make, your acceptance, attitude, interest, enthusiasm, curiosity. . . .

If you can afford it, why not spend the summer traveling and decide for yourself? — HELEN AND SUE

Acceptance Of Policewomen Is Mixed

By GAY PAULEY
By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

No one yet refers to her as a gumshoe, a flatfoot, or even more derisively as a pig, but there she is — a policewoman, a Ms. Fuzz, performing in major American cities the same duties as the policeman.

Call it unisex in law enforcement if you care, but cops in skirts or culottes or pantsuits are a fact of life in cities that not too long ago had all male enforcers. Acceptance of lawwomen is a mixed bag, however, a United Press International survey around the country indicates.

The policewomen sometimes are resented by their male counterparts and the male counterparts' wives, sometimes accepted without thought of discrimination, sometimes passed by for promotions and sometimes accused of being liberationists.

AS LYNN Coons, 24, single, and two years on the Tulsa, Okla., force puts it, "From the time I started college I had decided to become a police officer.

"I support the liberation movement. When people say they have never seen a woman policeman, I tell them they still haven't because there is no such thing as a woman policeman. We call ourselves police officers, although we jokingly call ourselves Ms. Fuzz."

Deputy Inspector Gertrude Schimmel, the highest ranking woman in the New York City police force, summed matters up this way: "We've had policewomen here since around 1888 long before women's suffrage. They were then called matrons. Their numbers have increased gradually. But now women are coming out of the police academies in droves."

For a long while in New York City, she said, the policewomen worked in special areas, dealing with juvenile delinquency, family relationships, drugs, special detective work and the like. Now they do everything and are assigned around the clock.

Inspector Schimmel said, "There is no longer the question of men and women working together. It's like a doctor and a nurse. Just accepted."

NEW YORK'S police department boasts one of the least discriminatory policies of any city in the country. Of the 30,000 on the force, 700 are women.

The take the same exams as the men, are graduated from the same police academy, have the same training as the men including use of firearms, boxing, wrestling and judo. They also do the same foot and motor patrol, direct traffic, perform emergency services, operate in high crime areas.

OFFICERS LINDA H. Maddox and Marie E. Whalen, two of the 75 women on the Atlanta police force of 1,503, arrest a public drunk in Atlanta, Ga. Many policewomen are performing the same duties as policemen in major American cities, many of which not long ago had all male law enforcers.

(UPI Telephoto)

As in several other cities hiring women officers, there have been complaints. Some wives of patrolmen have harped on the buddy system of patrol — when their husband's buddy is a woman. And some patrolmen expressed worry about what they would do in an emergency. Protect the "weaker sex?"

Surely there are dangers in the job for either sex. But the big cities do a comprehensive training job. New York, for instance, gives both sexes six months of training and then one year of probationary duty.

And a police department spokesman said that of the 53,000 who took an applicant's exam last December, almost half were women. Another indication of nondiscrimination in most cities is equal pay for equal work, although this is not universally the case.

EVEN AS the "droves" apply, however, the percentage of women police officers remains small counted nationally, according to the Police Foundation, a nonprofit group headquartered in Washington, D.C. Its purpose is to aid police agencies in urban areas.

The foundation reported only two per cent of women making up the sworn officer force in 493 police agencies it surveyed recently. The foundation also reported that female police officers seldom rose above the rank of sergeant or detective.

This is an issue that is going to arise frequently. Only the other day in Philadelphia, a policewoman filed a class-action suit in federal court seeking to halt what she termed a "pattern and practice" of discrimination against women in the police department.

Penelope Brace said she had been denied the opportunity to be upgraded to the rank of detective and had been threatened with dismissal because of her complaints.

In Detroit, there's a civil suit over the practice of assigning a female officer in the women and children's section to the same duties as sergeants in the detective bureau without the resultant rank or pay.

And in Oakland, one woman has a suit pending alleging discrimination because the department refused to give her the competitive test for promotion to sergeant.

Another "problem" in hiring policewomen has to do with pregnancy and maternity leave. New York reports the turnover greater among women as a result.

IN CHICAGO, Angela Shreiner, 29, filed complaints with federal and state civil rights boards claiming discrimination and seeking back pay because she was not paid during maternity leave. She said policemen get full salary and benefits for up to a year on sick leave.

Some police departments reported masculine resentment of women but most did not.

"When I was hired, I could feel the strain of being a woman cop," said Lt. Marilyn O'Regan, administrative assistant to the Chicago Superintendent of Police.

But that was 25 years ago and today, she said, there are about 100 women in the department, mainly in youth programs, not walking the beat or riding the patrol cars.

"We don't compare the sexes," she said. "No records are kept on which sex is more successful than the other in special jobs. Women active in investigation often make arrests without company of a male patrolman."

CHICAGO AND other cities reported women especially helpful with "tender age" kids and juveniles. And a spokesman said, "Women have become invaluable in rape investigations because of their knack for establishing rapport with the victims . . ."

Whether women are the "weaker sex" concerns many cities. Sgt. Edward Snyder, head of the personnel and training department in Lancaster, Pa., said, "I would be extremely disappointed if most of our officers didn't feel this way — protective of women; that's male human nature."

Corte Madera Girl Scout Chosen To Attend Norway National Camp

Wendy Ng, 16, of Corte Madera is one of 18 girl scouts from the United States chosen to attend the National Camp of Norway.

Four thousand scouts and girl guides from throughout the world will attend the gathering June 26 to July 12 in Selgord, Telemark, Norway. The gathering is part of the scout sponsored Wider Opportunities Program.

Last summer Wendy attended a national gathering in Alaska.

Wendy applied to the program in October and after a series of local interviews was recommended to a regional committee. She is one of three from a 10-state region selected to go to the national camp. The other two are from Tumwater, Wash., and Sunnyvale.

Most of Wendy's travel expenses will be covered by the girl scouts, but to raise additional funds she is selling girl scout wider opportunities patches.

At all national and international gatherings scouts bring "swaps," something indicative of their area. Wendy will bring redwood seeds. With the help of Girl Scouts in Marin she is translating directions for planting the seed into foreign languages.

She will also prepare herself to answer questions about her community, state and country, the history of Girl Scouting and the difference between scouts and Girl Guides.

A Redwood High School student, Wendy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ng of Corte Madera. She has been a member of Girl Scout Troop 1566 in Corte Madera for 10 years.

Bolinas Crackdown Is Ordered On Unauthorized Living Units

Directors of the Bolinas Community Public Utility District last night moved to halt the proliferation of unauthorized living units in the district.

The growing population in the community in campers and outbuildings has subverted the purpose of the moratorium on new water hookups, enacted in 1971, according to Director Paul B. Kayfetz. He said voter registration has grown by about 100 persons per year in the last five years.

Directors approved a resolution providing that water service be terminated to any property with unauthorized living units or new occupants who receive water from garden hoses.

Kayfetz said the resolution takes effect immediately, although its final text is subject to board approval.

Board members agreed, he said, that the proliferation of campers, vans and buses, along with increasing use of sheds or other outbuildings is unfair to property owners who are denied the right to build under the moratorium.

He said conservation measures and high rates have thus far kept water use relatively stable, but the current situation would "make a mockery of the moratorium if allowed to continue."

The board also appointed Kayfetz and Director Judith Weston to a subcommittee to make recommendations on requests for building permits.

A report by zoologist Dr. Roger Payne says that the disposition of a right whale is at variance with the centuries-old reputation for smashing boats and men. Dr. Payne said, "That violent action only followed harpooning and lancing, with the whale writhing in agony."

Call For Reagan To Cancel His Contract On Jet

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — John Merlo, a Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, has called on Gov. Ronald Reagan to cancel the state lease for his executive jet to save energy.

Merlo, a Chico attorney, yesterday said "executive-style jet travel (is) incompatible with the national interest" of conserving gasoline and jet fuel during the energy crisis.

He also urged the Reagan administration's Department of General Services to "make a public determination" on whether the jet lease should be canceled because of the fuel shortage.

Permit Of Notary Who Dated Nixon Tax Papers Threatened

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr., filed action today to revoke the notary commission of an attorney accused of backdating the deed supporting President Nixon's tax writeoff on his vice presidential papers.

The action was disclosed by attorney Frank DeMarco Jr., of Newport Beach, a notary public and law partner of Nixon fund raiser Herbert W. Kalmbach. DeMarco said Brown accused him of failure to "fully and faithfully discharge the duties of a notary public."

Brown notified DeMarco that he was taking action to revoke the attorney's notary public's license. Brown's office has jurisdiction over California notaries public.

DeMarco said in a telephone interview he had done "nothing illegal or improper" and charged that the action was staged by Brown, a Democratic gubernatorial contender, to obtain nationwide publicity.

It has been estimated that Nixon's tax deduction for the papers, valued by an appraiser for Nixon at $576,000, saved the President about $250,000 in taxes.

Brown charged the documents were "falsely dated March and April, 1969, in order to provide misleading, deceitful and fraudulent documentation of the claim that the gift of the Nixon papers to the National Archives was completed" prior to the change in the law.

Brown told newsmen he asked Nixon in a letter this week to waive the attorney-client privilege "so that DeMarco could answer additional questions concerning the backdating."

He said DeMarco has indicated he would answer questions he previously refused to answer if the President waives the privilege.

"The questions DeMarco refused to answer concern a meeting he had with the President in the White House several minutes after the deed was falsely dated and notarized," Brown said.

"During that meeting DeMarco reviewed the President's tax returns with the President and Mr. Nixon signed the returns."

DeMarco said the formal charge would "give me an opportunity to file an answer and defense" within 15 days prior to an administrative hearing on the case.

He conceded that the final deed to the papers was signed on April 10, 1970, although he had notarized the deed as having been signed on April 21, 1969. The law was changed between the dates to bar such deductions made after July 25, 1969.

Mrs. Lloyd Supports Intertie

Pamela Lloyd, a candidate for the Marin Municipal Water District board, said yesterday she supports construction of an intertie pipeline to the North Marin County Water District provided certain constraints are included.

Mrs. Lloyd said the intertie project, approved by voters in 1970, must move ahead but with physical and contractural limits on the amount of water it will handle.

The candidate said she views the current board's attempt "to expedite the technical and contractual arrangements ... as an important step toward the elimination of the district's 25 per cent over-commitment of supply."

She said voters approved the project in 1970 under the assumption limitations would be made.

Mrs. Lloyd is seeking the Division 4 seat being vacated by Dr. Martin Griffin, who has decided not to seek reelection. Division 4 includes Mill Valley, Kent Woodlands, and parts of Kentfield and Corte Madera.

Kehoe To Run For GOP State Treasurer's Nod

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — State Consumer Affairs Director John T. Kehoe plans to seek the Republican nomination for state treasurer, the San Jose Mercury News reported today.

"I have zero money to run but I think it's high time that good citizens seek public office and not get scared off," Kehoe said.

Kehoe confirmed his intention to seek the post now held by Republican Ivy Baker Priest after former Assembly GOP leader Robert Monagan decided not to run. Mrs. Priest has said she will not seek re-election.

Asked if he thought 1974 would be a bad year for Republicans because of Watergate, Kehoe said, "Those myths don't disturb me at all. Californians look at the person running—not the feuds, scandals or anything else."

Kehoe was appointed consumer affairs director by Gov. Ronald Reagan in 1972. Kehoe was the main administration spokesman on behalf of pending no-fault auto insurance legislation.

Ringo Starr Hit With Loan Action

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former Beatle drummer-singer Ringo Starr has been sued in federal court for $10,000 which Abkco Industries alleges he owes from a total of $160,000 in loans between March 1971 and March 1973.

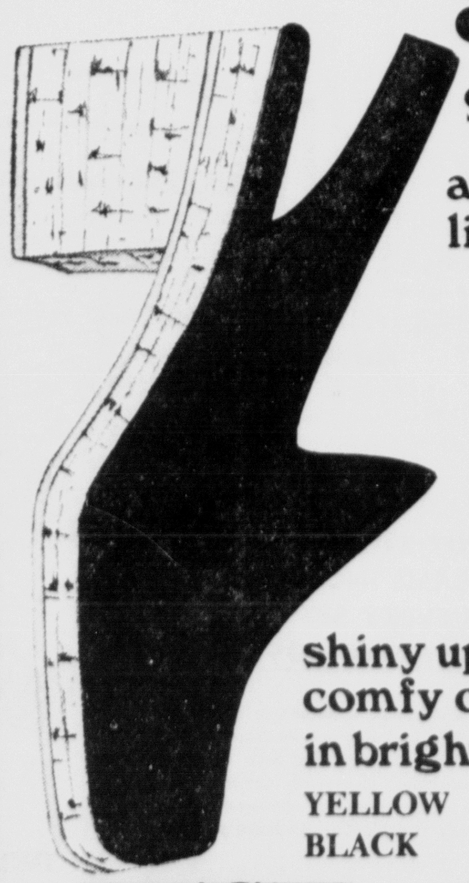

The suit filed yesterday didn't state the reason for the loan from the recording and distribution company.

Senior Citizens Art Show Entry Blanks Mailed Out

Entry blanks for the Senior Citizens Art Show, part of the San Rafael Centennial Celebration May 17-26, have been mailed to 4,000 Marin senior citizens, it was announced today.

Paintings, drawings, leather work, pottery, macrame, photographs and other art work were solicited for the show which will open at noon May 18, at the Whistle Stop headquarters of the Marin Senior Coordinating Council, according to Executive Director Edward Ryken.

Prizes will be awarded May 19, during a noon-to-5 p.m. open house at the Whistle Stop, 930 Tamalpais Avenue, San Rafael — former Northwestern Pacific Railroad depot.

Winning art works will be on view there daily through May 24, and at a seniors booth at the Centennial Fair May 25, at Forest Meadows on the Dominican College campus.

A second senior citizens booth will sell "Son Of A Bitch Stew," which Ryken described as a popular 19th Century dish.

A float in the Centennial parade Sunday, May 26, will feature seniors in dress reminiscent of early day railroads.

On May 22, 500 senior citizens are expected to attend the annual awards luncheon at the Veterans Memorial Building where Marin's outstanding senior citizen of the year will be named. An historical fashion show, presented by the Centennial Committee, is scheduled at the luncheon.

Stanford's Glee Club Will Perform

The 60-voice Stanford University Glee Club and its 21-piece orchestra will appear in concert March 25 at 8 p.m. in Angelico Hall at Dominican College, San Rafael.

The glee club and orchestra, currently on their sixth West Coast tour, will present a program ranging from classical choral masterpieces to popular songs, show tunes and jazz.

Dominican College and the Stanford Alumni of Marin County are jointly sponsoring the concert.

The Glee club includes a 12-man barbershop group called the Axidentals, and a mixed quartet with guitar accompaniment called the Quadrangle which performs pop tunes.

Director Robert MacKinnon, a composer, arranger, clarinetist and singer, has directed many Bay Area musical theater presentations.

New Traffic Signal For Oakland Bridge

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California Toll Bridge Authority said yesterday a new traffic signal system will go into operation at the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge toll plaza in about two weeks.

A toll bridge report said stop-go signals over 15 lanes will assure the use of the "bridge's maximum capacity during the morning rush, regardless of the number of buses and car pools in the priority lanes reserved for their use."

John J. Kozak, chief engineer of the Toll Bridge Administration, said some bridge capacity is wasted now because buses and car pools do not always fill the lane reserved for them going onto the bridge.

He said the new signal system will save time for regular commuters, as well as those in buses and car pools.

The signals, which cost $350,000 to install, will regulate the flow of traffic going onto the bridge to prevent congestion.

In other action, the toll bridge authority approved a $5 Class II truck ticket book at the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge for owners of small trucks, vans or campers not used in business.

The books have five tickets, giving the small truck owners the regular $1 auto toll. Currently such Class II truck tickets are available only in books of 20 for $21, more than many infrequent users of the bridge care to pay, the authority said.

Without tickets, such trucks are charged the regular $2.50 toll, it added.

Chastity Belt's Price Not Met

LONDON (UPI) — A highly publicized iron chastity belt offered for sale at Christie's auction rooms by the Tower of London failed to reach its $250 asking price.

The belt was among a large collection of surplus arms and armor sent for sale by the tower.

Officials in the auction room said the failure of the belt to draw bids was not a reflection on the so-called permissive society, but rather the fact that it could not be authenticated.

Alan Borg, the tower's assistant keeper of the armories, said he did not believe the belt was genuine and Christies carefully listed it "in the style of the early 17th Century."

Marin's Voters Opt For Many New Faces

It was not a very good day for incumbent city councilmen in Marin County.

Of 15 incumbents seeking re-election to city councils Tuesday, only eight made it.

This voter rejection rate of almost 50 per cent of those who sought to continue in office was the highest in a long time in this county. The closest approach in recent years was in 1966. Seven incumbents were turned out that year, too, but 10 were re-elected.

Two years ago, 11 of 16 incumbents won re-election to city councils; four years ago, it was 12 of 17; six years ago, 11 of 13.

THERE IS ALWAYS a mixture of sadness and satisfaction when a newcomer defeats an incumbent council member. There is sadness at the rejection of a person who undoubtedly has done his best as he saw it for his community — and for little pay and much complaint. There is satisfaction because new faces in city government prove the democratic elective system is alive and healthy. Fresh outlooks are needed from time to time to keep government alive and healthy too.

OUSTING of incumbent councilmen at the polls is unusual in some of Marin's cities but "standard operating procedure" in others.

In Fairfax, Novato and Tiburon, an incumbent is more likely to be defeated than to win re-election. Since 1964, Fairfax voters have rejected six re-election bids while returning only three to office; in Novato, they have turned out four while retaining three. Tiburon since its incorporation has rejected three out of four re-election attempts. (In most cases, Tiburon council members do not even seek a second term.)

The chances are little better than 50-50 for a councilman to win re-election in Mill Valley. Four have done so over the 10-year span, while three have failed.

On the other hand, during the same period, Belvedere and Ross have never rejected an incumbent. San Anselmo has turned out only two, while re-electing nine.

Local politics is usually "hot" in Fairfax, Novato, Tiburon and Mill Valley. It is rarely even lukewarm in Belvedere and Ross. But it is difficult to assess cause and effect. A constant procession of new council members indicates dissatisfaction in the body politic — but to what extent does it create that dissatisfaction?

NOT ALL new brooms sweep clean, regardless of the proverb. And the burning issue of an election campaign may soon be eclipsed by other issues. The council candidate elected largely because of his stand for or against some project or proposal may later be exposed as incapable of judicious handling of the myriad other problems of local government.

At any rate, we hope all seven "new brooms" elected Tuesday in Marin's cities prove clean sweepers. And to the eight incumbents who won re-election, we offer our congratulations. Getting elected the second (or third, or fourth) time provides an expression of community satisfaction of which these persons may well be proud.

"Will this get it turned on again?"

Indictments Move President Bit Closer To Impeachment

WASHINGTON — The odds on President Nixon's impeachment have risen sharply since the indictment of seven of his former close aides on a variety of criminal charges.

It strained credulity to the breaking point to believe he could not have known about the cover-up and the payoff of the Watergate burglary as charged against the seven who were his intimates in the White House and the Reelection Committee.

Then there is the threat of the sealed presentment handed to Judge John Sirica along with the indictments. That is said to contain allegations of the president's involvement.

Judge Sirica will unquestionably, insofar as it is within his power, keep this secret. But others have knowledge of the contents of the presentment and a leak is almost certain. Within a few days, the cynical guess is, we shall know at least the substance of the fat document handed up to the judge's bench.

THE CLUTCH of indictments makes many things clear. It would have been simple common sense, as some of us wrote, for Nixon to have faced the facts when he learned them, dismissing his principal aides and asking for public understanding of his failure to have held to account men once enjoying his complete trust.

At one stroke that would have drawn the string of Watergate.

Vice President Gerald Ford was frank at one point in expressing to this reporter his puzzlement over why the president had not followed that course. With honesty and sincerity as the bedrock of his character, Ford could not understand the failure to make a clean breast of the involvement of Haldeman, Ehrlichman & Co. and have done with it.

The president has said repeatedly that Watergate should be left to the judicial process. The trials of the seven will, it is estimated, take four months, and other indictments are still to come. With appeal to higher courts added on for many more months, the judicial process stretches a long way into the future.

This means a severe strain on the system. Fortunately able and steadfast federal judges like Sirica and Gerard Gesell are serving with strict impartiality under difficult circumstances. But the system was never designed to carry the load of a confrontation with the highest level of the executive branch of government.

FOR ALL THE SKILL of the arguments of Mr. Nixon's chief counsel, James St. Clair, the narrow view that only a criminal act is grounds for impeachment is unlikely to prevail.

All the invocations to speed up the process of impeachment are wasted breath. The polls continue to show a reluctance to impeach and then only after a thorough inquiry into the rights and wrongs of the whole grisly business lumped under the shorthand of Watergate.

The findings of the grand jury will be a big assist for the House Judiciary Committee conducting that inquiry. Whether the presentment will be part of the record forwarded to the committee is up to Judge Sirica.

With the inexorable quality of a Greek tragedy, the drama of Watergate is moving to a climax.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Boy Who Will Stand At Top Of The List

I am sure we all like to read "What Our Readers Say" in the Independent-Journal. Often there are letters of praise for the lads who deliver our papers. And that is good, for very soon they will be our successful businessmen or civic leaders.

Frank Flores, who delivers our papers on Merrydale Road, is an excellent student, always prompt and courteous. Sometimes he does a little extra for me, like putting the paper in the doorway, especially if it is raining, but that is in deference to my age I guess.

I am sure Frank will stand among those who are at the top of the list.

Bicycle Route Proves To Have Brief Life

Several months ago my wife and I parked our car at the ferry parking lot, cycled into Sausalito, took the ferry to San Francisco, and returned via Fort Mason, the Presidio, Golden Gate Bridge back to our car.

We attempted to repeat the same trip over the recent week end and the frustration involved has made us foreswear this trip from here on.

At the intersection of Van Ness and Bay, where previously there was a pedestrian and bicycle access to Fort Mason, we were confronted by locked gates. We braved the busy Bay Street and entered Fort Mason a couple of blocks south — and on trying to get to the Marina were confronted by a barricade of gates and had to retrace our steps. . .

At the far end of Marina Green where we formerly had a pedestrian and cycle access to the Presidio —more locked gates . . .

The final straw came on the north end of the Golden Gate Bridge. Near the pedestrian underpass was a sign reading "Temporary Bicycle Path." We took this route, carrying the bicycles up steep steps to the view area to be confronted by signs en route toward the highway to Sausalito reading "No Bicycles."

Incidentally, this "verboten" 40-yard section is one hell of a lot safer than the "bike route" on the main drag leading into Sausalito (south Alexander Avenue).

All in all, our bicycle trip this Sunday was a disaster and we sincerely hope that those officials who frustrated a repeat of an earlier delightful trip drown in their martinis. . .

Believes New Emergency Arrangement Superior

I have noted with interest the various discussions concerning the newly-instituted contractual operation of the emergency room at the Marin General Hospital. I am an individual with no ax to grind in the matter, but I do have reliable contacts in the medical field in other parts of the country, and those who have experience with this type of emergency room operation have told me that it tends to a more efficient operation of the emergency room together with rendering superior care for the patient.

Have Beans Gone Way Of Wheat And Rice?

Last year, white navy beans 20 cents pound. This year, 80 cents pound.

They can't blame the energy crisis or truck drivers' strike. It is last year's beans that are being sold. This year's have not been harvested yet. Have the beans gone with out wheat and rice?

We're getting the shaft again.

U.S. Ambivalence Toward Russia Dates Back Well Beyond Century

The Russian and American peoples have had a mixed relationship over many years. They are right now at a moment of considerable strain in that relationship. The expulsion of Alexander Solzhenitsyn has again reminded the Americans that the Soviet Union is a tyrannical dictatorship which cannot tolerate dissent among its own people. This in turn has raised a question whether the American people wish to continue along the path of the limited easing of relations with Russia which is called detente.

To get at the right answer it is necessary to remember that the condition explosed by the expulsion of Russia's most eminent and honored writer is nothing new. Russia has been a ruthless and often brutal tyranny from its beginning as a major, unified, centrally governed state. This moment is usually dated from the reign of Ivan IV, known as the Terrible. He was terrible. His reign (1533-84) was marked by constant bloodshed. He thought nothing of exterminating the entire population of Novogorod. The czars from then on regarded themselves as "autocrats." They were.

THE RISE OF THE MODERN Russian state coincided with the expansion of the United States from its original 13 colonies out across the continent to the Pacific Ocean. As Americans pressed westward, the Russians pressed eastward — until the two actually met at San Francisco.

During that period of mutual expansion and development they have had a mixed, almost a love-hate, relationship with each other. Americans have at various times been horrified by things that have happened inside Russia: the pogroms against the Jews, the forced labor camps in Siberia, the forced population of Siberia, the forced population of Siberia by sending political prisoners to those camps. Time after time news of such brutalities inside Russia has alienated American opinion. Conversely, Russians tended to think of the U.S. as a dangerous anarchy from which revolutionary seeds might reach Russia and infect its peoples.

BACK IN 1821 the czar was claiming the Pacific Coast down to San Francisco and denouncing "expiring republicanism." A note handed in Washington by the Russian ambassador in 1823 used this phrase, which was regarded as deeply offensive by American opinion at the time and was partly responsible for the drafting of the Monroe Doctrine.

But in 1867 Russia willingly, indeed eagerly, sold Alaska to the U.S., and whenever American relations with the British went through one of their several rough passages, Washington and St. Petersburg tended to get together. The relationship became even easier after the rise of Bismarck's Germany in the heart of Europe. Russia was seen as a useful curb on the ambitions of the German kaiser.

So there is nothing new about the U.S. being horrified by the way the Russian government treats its own people, but at the same time finds the existence of the Russian state to be a useful piece in the balance of the great powers.

RUSSIA IS NOT, and never was, an enlightened democracy. It is an authoritarian state. It continues to do things which horrify people who live in a free society. There is no reason to think that this condition will change radically now or ever. There may be a gradual lessening of the tyranny. Certainly it is an improvement that Solzhenitsyn was expelled rather than sent back to a labor camp in Siberia, or shot. But Russia is not a free country.

Does this mean that the U.S. must shun it and avoid doing useful business with it? Certainly not, provided the business is in truth mutually useful. It is to be remembered that the political system inside the U.S. is just as upsetting to Russians today as it was back in 1821, or as the Russian system is to Americans. But the two states have often been mutually useful to each other in spite of their differences over how to treat people.

Unicameral Legislature Advocates Undeterred

By EARL G. WATERS

Undeterred by the prompt rejection of their brainstorm by the legislators, proponents of the unicameral legislature are merrily charging around gathering signatures to submit the issue to the voters.

Fronting the movement is a former one-term state senator, Lewis F. Sherman, now a municipal court judge. His adequacy as a legislator is testified to by his defeat at the polls when he sought reelection.

The propriety of a representative of the judicial branch of government undertaking to dictate the form of the legislative branch seems questionable.

IT SUGGESTS that Sherman and his followers lack understanding of the very meaning of the word "legislative" and therefore the purpose and function of the legislature.

For the key word in support of their proposition to reduce the legislature to a one-house body is "efficiency". This, they say, is their goal in seeking a unicameral legislature.

The dictionary defines efficiency as "the ability to accomplish a job with a minimum expenditure of time and effort".

Legislature, as defined, is "a deliberative body".

Deliberate, the dictionary tells us, means "to carefully weigh, consider, study . . ."

Now, even a grade school kid can readily discern that "efficiency" does not mesh with legislative.

THE ASTUTE Willie L. Brown Jr., who, as chairman of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee, has demonstrated a thorough understanding of the legislative process, observed that even with two houses there is too much haste in enacting legislation.

Brown noted the number of bills which are being acted upon whose sole purpose is to correct errors in legislation perviously enacted. He cited as a classic example the so-called "tax reform" measure of 1972 (SB 90). The measure was a product of some cloistered negotiations between Speaker Bob Moretti and Governor Reagan's staff. It did not have the benefit of full deliberation by the appropriate committees of both houses and it was hastily passed in the final hours of the session. As a result of this failure to weigh carefully, to study, to consider, to reflect, to consult and to confer, the lawmakers found it necessary to pass a veritable flood of bills in 1973 to correct the errors of SB 90. In fact, there are still "clean-up" measures being passed to undo unintentional ramifications of SB 90.

As Brown has pointed out, the legislature must remove the artificial deadlines it has established for legislative enactments. It must spend less time in session and more time in conducting meaningful interim studies.

"We need a slowing down," said Brown, "not a speeding up. Instead of talking about a one-house legislature, maybe we ought to be thinking about having three houses."

Obviously, Brown was being facetious in suggesting three houses. But it serves to emphasize how wrong is the idea of one house as an improvement in the legislative process.

Speaking Of Privacy Invasion, How About Those Car Buzzers?

WASHINGTON — If President Nixon is really serious in his campaign to protect Americans from invasion of privacy, he might start with the 1974 automobile safety belts. These harnesses which are attached to screaming buzzers on the dashboard may save lives but they're also wrecking marriages, driving people stark raving mad, and causing untold havoc on the road.

Just the other day I was in Tucson, Ariz., and the Sheltons offered to take me to dinner in their new 1974 station wagon. There were six of us in the car, three in the front seat and three in the back. Everyone was in a jovial mood.

Then Shelton tried to start the car. A red light the size of a highway billboard lit up and a buzzer which sounded like an air raid siren went off.

SHELTON YELLED to his wife, "Fasten your safety belt!"

"It is fastened!" she screamed back over the din.

"Well it isn't fastened right. Put the shoulder strap over your chest."

"It is over my chest," she said angrily. I was sitting between them in the middle seat.

"Maybe it's my belt!" I yelled. I unhooked and then rehooked the belt, but the buzzer wouldn't stop.

"Hurry up," someone in the back seat shouted, "or the whole car will self-destruct!"

Shelton leaned over me, grabbed his wife's shoulder harness and pulled it tightly around her.

The red light went off and the buzzing stopped.

"THERE," SAID SHELTON, "that's better."

"I'm choking," Mrs. Shelton gasped. "I can't breathe."

"Don't do anything," Shelton cried, "or the buzzing will start again."

"I can only hold my breath for two minutes," Mrs. Shelton gagged.

I lifted the shoulder harness from her neck and the red light went on again and the scream of the buzzer filled the car.

SHELTON HIT the wheel with both his hands. "I told you not to touch her belt."

"But her face was all green," I said.

"Everybody get out," Shelton said. "Let's see if I can solve this thing."

We all got out of the car. Shelton studied the front seat.

"All right, my harness goes in this slot, your harness in this slot, and her harness goes in this one. Now let's all get back in the car again and I don't want to hear any buzzers."

WE GOT BACK IN and in five minutes managed to get the harnesses around us.

Shelton turned on the ignition and everything on the dashboard flashed red.

"You hold her harness," Shelton yelled to me, "and let her hold yours!"

"Who's going to hold yours?" I shouted

"I'll hold my own."

"How are you going to drive?" I asked him.

"Who cares, as long as I can stop the buzzing?"

I was holding on to Mrs. Shelton's harness for dear life, and she had my seat belt in the crook of her elbow. Shelton had one hand underneath his seat and was driving with the other.

FOR FIVE MINUTES it was quiet in the car. Then Mrs. Shelton said, "I think the circulation in my arm has been cut off. There's no feeling in it."

"We've only got three miles to go," Shelton raged. "Hang on."

"Please let go of my harness," Mrs. Shelton begged me.

"If you do I'll kill you," Shelton said to me.

We made it to the restaurant just before Mrs. Shelton passed out.

It was a good dinner but no one really cared. Everyone was thinking of the drive back to the hotel.

WORTH SAYING AGAIN

There are two passions which have a powerful influence on the affairs of men. They are ambition and avarice; the love of power and the love of money. Separately each of these has a great force in prompting men to action; but when united in view of the same object, they have in many minds the most violent effects. — Benjamin Franklin.

Wilson, To Keep Office, Must Abandon Pledges

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreigh News Analyst

If Harold Wilson wants to stay on long as Britain's prime minister—and it's the only job he's ever wanted—he will have to abandon some of the issues for which he has campaigned most strongly.

Among them will be his socialist goal of a widely expanded nationalization of industry.

Another will be his avowed determination to re-negotiate Britain's position in the European common market.

IT IS A QUESTION whether he will be able to abandon wage controls while at the same time holding a lid on prices to cut back on inflation. But that also is a Labor Party goal.

These are among the results of an election in which British voters rejected former Prime Minister Edward Heath's challenge to the coal miners on the question of "who rules Britain?" and the Labor party's corresponding challenge to British industry. Instead, they mandated both parties to abandon politics and act solely in the interests of Britain.

British voters denied a majority to either Labor or conservative party and placed the balance in the hands of the Liberals with a total of only 14 seats in the House of Commons. A few others were scattered among the small Scottish and Welsh groups, which Wilson also must court.

The British election has been described as a rejection of extremists on both sides.

Certainly it will demand extraordinary talents.

AMONG THE NEW government's most pressing tasks will be to get the British miners back to work. The miners' refusal to accept a 16 per cent wage increase triggered the election call and led to Heath's defeat. Presumably Wilson's Labor government is willing to give the miners more.

But the new government also must borrow vast sums to cover an estimated $7 billion deficit between income and outgo and therefore must take stern steps to preserve its credit.

To stay in power, the new government must court the Liberals.

The Liberals are opposed to any withdrawal from the European Common Market.

They are unenthusiastic about new nationalization of industry.

They question the advisability of dropping wage controls.

WILSON'S EFFORTS to strike a balance are evident in his new cabinet. Among them:

Roy Jenkins, 53, home secretary, who split with Wilson on the issue of Common Market, which he ardently supports.

James Callaghan, 62, foreign secretary, regarded as a middleman.

Denis Healey, 56, chancellor of exchequer, who served as defense secretary in the previous Labor government and came under heavy leftwing criticism for his support of U.S. policies in Vietnam. Could succeed Wilson.

Anthoney Wedgwod Benn, 49, secretary of state for industry, a leader of the party leftwing and ardent supporter of nationalization.

Michael Foot, 60, secretary for employment, self-proclaimed radical, now entrusted with the job of pacifying the coal miners.

Wilson's previous tenure as prime minister ran from 1964 into 1970. He has a reputation as a political tightrope walker—a talent he obviously will need as he takes over again.

Ferry Terminal Cost Increase Is Approved

A $100,000 increase in the cost of new ferry terminal facilities in downtown Sausalito was endorsed yesterday by a committee of Golden Gate Bridge District directors.

The increase, due primarily to inflation, will put the cost of both permanent and temporary facilities at $1,355,000.

The committee also recommended raising from $14,190 to $39,600 the fee to design a temporary landing just north of the present site. The first of the three new ferryboats is supposed to go into service in June, but completion of permanent facilities in set about a year later.

The design work is being done by Environmental Planning and Design Associates. The recommendations by the building and operating committee will go the full board tomorrow for ratification. It meets at 10 a.m. in toll plaza offices.

The committee also endorsed a staff proposal to budget $17,450 in district crew time to drill holes in the roadway for traffic tubes with deeper probes. Pruchase of 1,000 of the new tubes, with reflecting tape, will cost an additional $4,200.

The staff said tests of the new tubes show they are far less likely to be knocked out of their holes than those with shorter probes. Some 1,500 tubes a month are dislodged from their holes by motorists, the staff said.

The committee also recommended a $10,000 contract with GFDS Engineers of San Francisco to check engineering for the Larkspur ferry terminal. The independent check was asked by the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

San Anselmo Will Vote On Tax Rate Increase

San Anselmo voters will be asked to approve a tax rate increase of 20 cents per $100 assessed valuation for support of the schools at a special election on June 4, to be held in conjunction with the primary election.

The San Anselmo School District board in a special meeting Tuesday night voted for the special tax increase election, according to Supt. Frank R. Elliott.

The board originally had considered a 50-cent tax rate increase but lowered it Tuesday night, he said.

The increase would bring in approximately $100,000, he said.

The extra money would be used to cover inflationary costs, Superintendent Elliott said. These include such things as a cost of living adjustment for the employees, increases in utilities, fuel for buses, blacktopping and roofing now needed by the district, and paper supplies which cost more.

The special meeting had been called after Elliott presented his preliminary budget last week. It was $2,470,329, for 1974-75, down $65,058. Elliott had said that the budget was about $100,000 less than was needed to operate the school district next year.

She Talks With Pets; They Answer

REDWOOD CITY (AP) — When your dog or cat mopes around the house seemingly doing nothing, he's really reading every thought in your mind, says a housewife turned animal analyst.

Beatrice Klein Lydecker, an attractive 35-year-old Bible school graduate, claims she has received ESP messages from all kinds of animals ranging from water buffaloes to serpents.

"They actually talk to me but that doesn't necessarily mean they want me to come close to them," she said. "Wild animals can only communicate images to me, but if they've listened enough to people, they tell me things in complete sentences — names, dates, everything."

Almost offhandedly, she added: "When your animals are just sitting around the house, staring, what they're doing every minute is reading every thought in your mind."

Mrs. Lydecker told a news conference here Tuesday that her gift for receiving ESP messages from animals hit suddenly five years ago when she was a correctional supervisor at a women's prison.

"I had just lost a beloved German shepherd from a brain tumor when I met another German shepherd on the street, and suddenly he was telling me he felt blue because the family he lived with was leaving him out of things," she said.

"He showed me where he lived, and the family was glad to help straighten things out."

Within a year, Mrs. Lydecker divorced her husband and went into business as an "animal analyst" in Duarte, a suburb of Pasadena, where she translated pets' descriptions of their symptoms to two bemused veterinarians.

In her therapeutic work, Mrs. Lydecker said she finds emotional disorders the most engrossing.

"A German shepherd in Sacramento told me he broke out in a terrible rash because his owners did perfectly harmless things that, nevertheless, reminded him of traumatic events in his early life. So we cleared that right up," she recalled.

Plan To Build Ferry Slip Is Protested

Residents Of Sausalito Rap Temporary Facility

Judging from a large and vocal group of protesters at a meeting last night of the Sausalito City Council, plans by the Golden Gate Bridge District to build a temporary ferry slip in downtown Sausalito appear headed for rough seas.

So many citizens showed up to oppose the bridge district's proposal that the meeting had to be moved from council chambers to the auditorium at Central School to accommodate them.

After listening to lengthy comment by members of the audience and bridge district representatives, Councilmen voted 4-0, Evert H. Heynneman abstaining, to send plans to the planning commission and community appearances advisory board for review.

Heynneman said the temporary facility poses enough adverse effects on the environment that whatever the other city bodies decide "it won't change my viewpoint."

His obvious opposition drew applause from the audience of about 100 residents, as did almost all comments critical of the bridge district.

At issue was a proposal to build a double deck float 80 feet south of the present ferry landing to serve commuters during construction of the new, permanent ferry terminal in Sausalito.

Without the float, said bridge district General Mgr. Dale W. Luehring, ferry service would have to be discontinued for many months.

Alan Conner, representing the Sausalito Citizens Council, called the threat of discontinued service blackmail by the bridge district.

He and others argued that because the temporary landing is intended to serve the first of three new and larger vessels as well as the present ferry, the Golden Gate, a report on the effects on the environment of the larger boat should be completed before the float is approved.

"We have expressed concern over those boats bringing in 750 passengers every 30 minutes," Conner said. "What is going to happen to Sausalito if that happens?"

He expressed outrage that the bridge district had begun drilling for soil tests at the downtown site without first consulting the city.

Luehring replied that the tests coincided with soil boring at the Larkspur terminal site and are a basic requirement of the environmental impact report.

Also lodging protests were the Sausalito Women's Club and the Golden Gate Association, represented by Adele Nolan, the Mill Valley woman who gained public attention last week when she refused to pay the 25-cent toll increase on the Golden Gate Bridge.

Luehring blamed repeated delays by federal officials in approving financing for the permanent terminal for subsequently delaying the start of work on the project's environmental impact report.

He reported that the district recently received the green light to begin studies for the impact statement, which should be complete within four months. He assured residents that district staff would soon finish an assessment of the environmental effects of the temporary landing.

Sausalito architect Roland Mays, whose firm is designing both proposed terminals, said plans call for the temporary slip to be in operation Aug. 1, with completion of the permanent facility expected in between nine months and a year.

He pointed out that the temporary float would be 12 feet, 6 inches high, taller than the present float because it must accomodate the new ferry, which loads passengers from the second deck.

Councilmen voiced concerns about the structure's design, including its height and the location of loading ramps.

Also representing the bridge district was bridge board President Stephan C. Leonoudakis.

The Sausalito City Council also:

GLEN GROVE — Continued until Monday at 8 p.m. a decision required by a citizens' referendum petition to either rescind its approval of the 12-unit Glen Grove condominium proposal or put the matter to voters in a special election.

FINANCE — Approved a joint powers agreement with the city of Corte Madera for short term investment of surplus city funds.

WATERFRONT — Continued until April 2 consideration of new zoning for the central waterfront.

NEW COUNCIL — Set next Tuesday for seating the new city council on which election victors Violetta Autumn and Leonard F. Rappa will replace defeated incumbents Earl F. Dunphy and Stephen A. Fraser.

WHITE PANTHER PARTY

Looking For Yesterday's News? Young Vendors Hawk '72 Paper

While daily and weekly newspapers and current news magazines compete fiercely nearby for citizens' attention and money, a periodical published long ago, its newsprint slightly yellowed, has been selling nicely recently at the corner of Fourth and B streets in San Rafael.

The yellow-and-purple-covered periodical was published by the White Panther Party in November 1972 and offers to those who pony up 25 cents the news that Gary T. Giacomini is a candidate for Marin supervisor and the opinion that Bobby Seale deserves to win his campaign for mayor of Oakland.

If the freshness of the material can be questioned, that of its young vendors cannot. And the young women, who identify themselves only as members or sympathizers of the party, may be not only the publication's principal selling point, but real competition to crustier hawkers of the latest word.

The appearance of the young women together with early signs of spring, like budding trees and northbound birds, demonstrates that the party, widely thought to be dead, still has life in it.

A few years ago, it was founded as a sympathetic counterpart to the Black Panther Party. But about two years ago, the party announced from headquarters in Ann Arbor, Mich., that it was going out of business under that name.

The Marin County branch, headquartered in Corte Madera declared, however, that it was going to carry on. Then, gradually it faded from view.

Richard L. Stark, now of Guerneville, former party leader in Marin when the group operated out of a Corte Madera commune, said the party is headquartered at 16 Willow Street in San Rafael.

Miranda Nelson who, Stark said, is a party spokesman in Marin, said the women selling the publication are party members. "The Touch is a party program. We've always sold it," she said.

The Touch in addition to news of the past, contains stories intended to illustrate the party view that tyranny is rampant in America, that concentration camps abound and that what it calls "the establishment" is the villain.

There are many drawings and photos, including one of the August 1970 shoot-out at the Hall of Justice, "borrowed" from the Independent-Journal of that day.

There is no advertising, which may spare merchants from stampeding customers in search of goods and services at 1972 prices.

The publication includes a "people's survival form" which asks for information about the purchaser so party members can be identified and list how they will help the organization. But it shows no address where the form can be mailed.

"If the people want their money back they can come down here and get it," Miss Nelson said when asked how the news of yesteryear was selling.

"This is the first I've heard that they've sprung back into action. We've received no complaints at all," said Richard A. Douglas, inspector with the San Rafael police.

He said although the party has no permit to sell the publication on city streets, there would be no investigation or prosecution unless police receive a complaint.

Landowner Is Denied Plan Exclusion Bid

The Larkspur City Council last night turned down the final appeal of a landowner to have his land excluded from the area planning of the San Quentin Peninsula.

The property owner, Alfred A. Finnila, however, has already gone to court to seek exemption in a legal move and that action is pending.

Finnila, through his attorney Colin C. Claxon, has claimed that delays would be caused by overall planning for the area and that he might lose a prospective buyer for the land.

Finnila has had an offer from Victoria Station restaurants for purchase of his 1.59-acre parcel.

The ordinance adopted by the city council last night, however, including both large and small landowners on the peninsula and requires them to cooperate in the development of a preliminary plan for the area.

The peninsula now is zoned as a planned development district, but Finnila seeks to go ahead under the old zoning with immediate submission of plans for the restaurant.

The most elaborate plans for the peninsula are those by Lincoln Properties, which owns 105 acres. Cluster housing, an office center, a lodge, tennis courts and an amphitheater have been proposed.

Norman T. Gilroy, planning consultant for the project, last night again indicated Lincoln Properties did not object to the new zoning. He also said the office section of the development would probably come first.

The Larkspur City Council Also:

GASOLINE — Learned that Larkspur's six service station operators will cooperate in posting signs denoting their hours of business.

VACANCY — Asked that citizens interested in filling the vacancy on the planning commission created when Charles H. Curley was elected to the city council submit applications by March 29. Application forms are available at the city hall.

COMMERCIAL — Introduced an ordinance which would allow such cooperative businesses as flea markets in commercial zones. No specific request has been made for a flea market, but the old Disco store has been mentioned as a possible site.

CONFLICT — Introduced an ordinance which requires the city council, appointed commissions and department heads to comply with state conflict of interest laws.

Pianist To Give College Concert

Dr. Ted Blair, chairman of Dominican College Music Department, will give a piano concert at 7:30 p.m., March 17 at Angelico Hall on the college campus in San Rafael.

He will play Bach's Prelude and Fugue in A Minor, Beethoven's Sonata in A Major, Opus 2, No. 2, Chopin's Trois Nouvelles Etudes, Rachmaninoff's Etude-Tableau in E Flat Minor, Opus 39, No. 5 and Griffes's Sonata.

Harpsichordist To Give Recital

Harpsichordist Tamara Robertson of the Dominican College music faculty will present a noon recital next Thursday in the Warren Auditorium of the Ives Hall of Music at Sonoma State College.

Her program will include works by Louis and Francois Couperin and Bach.

Miss Robertson's Harpsichord is a copy of a 1627 Ruckers model, plucked with raven quills instead of the plastic ones found in most modern instruments.

Three More File For Board Seats

Three more candidates have filed for the Novato Sanitary District board in the June 4 election, making a field of five for three seats.

The latest entries are Miguel B. Medeiros, 39, of 1456 Pastel Lane, a carpenter employed by Marin County; Barbara Butner, 46, of 221 Michele Circle, a homemaker; and Francis A. Butler of 42 Leland Drive, a civil engineering technician, Army Corps of Engineers.

Incumbents Clayton D. Payne and Thomas D. Hardcastle previously filed. George de Tuncq, the third incumbent whose term expires, hasn't yet filed.

Bel Marin Keys Board To Study Dock, Lock Issue

Bel Marin Keys Community Services District directors will have a special meeting on the dispute over a dock and the district's lock at 7:30 p.m. today at the Bel Marin Keys Community Center.

The district has halted Waterways Enterprises from building a dock in the lagoon, and Richard Blackbur, a partner in the firm, is seeking to stop the district from anchoring its tidal lock on his property.

A compromise effort failed two weeks ago and the dispute is scheduled to be heard in Marin Superior Court Tuesday.

Senate Race Abandoned By Pusser

Gordon W. Pusser of Lagunitas, withdrew today as a candidate for the Democratic nomination in the Second Senatorial District and endorsed Mendocino County Supervisor Ernest F. Banker for the nomination.

The only other Democratic candidate is Leslie A. Grant of San Rafael, a retired accountant who filed a pauper's oath declaring he could not pay the $211 filing fee. Unless the U.S. Supreme Court settles the issue of paupers' filings by March 28, Grant cannot appear on the June 4 primary election ballot, according to a ruling by a federal court.

Pusser, owner of a land management firm, said he decided to pull out of the race after a series of discussions with Banker. An uncontested primary will give the Democratic party a better crack at winning the November general election, Pusser said.

Banker, 52, is a real estate broker in Ukiah. He supports the Warm Springs Dam and opposed state legislation to protect North Coast rivers in their natural state — both positions contrary to those of the incumbent, Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael. The district stretches from the Golden Gate to the Oregon border.

Tiburon Planners Will Meet Tonight

The Tiburon Planning Commission meeting scheduled for last night was canceled because of lack of a quorum and reset for tonight at 8 o'clock.

Planning secretary Jean Ellingsen reported that commissioners Donald S. Tayer and E. Bruce Ross, just elected to the city council, were out of town on business. Commissioner Alvin R. Kuhn was ill, and commissioner Robert H. Wayne had business conflicts.

CAMPAIGNS '74

Land Purchases Are Suggested

Jack R. Felson of Forest Knolls, candidate for the Democratic nomination in the Ninth Assembly District, today proposed purchase of a chain of park land and recreational easements along the east shore of Tomales Bay and between the Estero de San Antonio and Estero Americano.

Large parcels, including Millerton, Tomasini and Tom's points, were included in his proposal to the state Park and Recreation Commission. The plan would link up with the Golden Gate National Recreation Area, Felson said.

He said the "coastway" could be created by the commission, the state Wildlife Conservation Board, Marin County and Audubon Canyon Ranch. Among parcels he cited for possible purchase was the bayfront acreage owned by Herbert H. Angress, whose development plans have been halted by the coastal commission.

Purchase of ocean frontage between the two esteros "will prevent a solid wall of second home subdivisions," Felson said.

SASSELLI — Louis D. Sasselli, of Corte Madera, candidate for the Democratic nomination in the Ninth Assembly District, has urged formation of a State Transit Authority to take over agencies such as the Golden Gate Bridge District. The district's ferry system, he said, "may become as big a waste in tax dollars spent in overcosts as the BART system."

McGUIRE — Terence V. McGuire of San Rafael, candidate for the Democratic nomination in the Fifth Congressional District, has charged that motorists and independent gas station owners "are being ripped off by state and federal officials" too incompetent to handle the gasoline shortage. He said Congress should investigate what he termed "the greatest fraud ever perpetrated against the public in the history of this nation." Gasoline taxes should be cut, he said.

REEVES — Alan F. Reeves of San Francisco, candidate for the Democratic nomination in the Fifth Congressional District, has charged a fellow candidate, Assemblyman John L. Burton of San Francisco, with "blatant radicalism" that Reeves said was "just as destructive to true democratic processes as is the corruption in the White House." He did not elaborate.

Teen-Age Burglars Arrested

A nine-member teen-age burglary ring was broken up in Petaluma yesterday with the arrest of its members in a shed filled with stolen property and liquor.

City police said the youths, all between 15 and 17 years old, were smoking marijuana in a shed behind 729 South McDowell Boulevard when officers arrived about 6:50 p.m.

Officers found nine bottles of liquor and a large number of household goods ranging from radios and portable stoves to linens and garden planters.

Police arrived after a homeowner reported that a marijuana smoking session was in progress.

Most of the youths are members of "middle to upper-middle class families," according to a police spokesman. They were turned over to county juvenile authorities.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Tumors Of The Urinary Bladder Usually Of Malignant Variety

Most tumors of the urinary bladder are malignant. They are likely to develop after the age of 50 and men are more susceptible than women. At least 95 per cent of these tumors are carcinomas or papillomas.

These cancers are unique, especially the papillomas. When the first tumor is removed, another develops months or years later. It is a new lesion and likely to be more malignant than the first. And this type of recurrence may happen over and over again. This is why urologists insist on looking into the bladder every three to six months after the first neoplasm is removed.

THE INCIDENCE of bladder tumors is increasing among our population. For example, last year approximately 15,000 males and 5,800 females developed these lesions. On the other hand, the death rate has not risen due, perhaps, to improvements in early diagnosis and treatment.

Cancers of the bladder may grow for varying periods of time without producing symptoms. They are always suspected when the individual suddenly, and for no apparent reason, urinates blood. Should this painless, but serious, sign develop, consult your physician without delay. He may recommend a urologist who will try to find the source of bleeding.

If nothing is done about the sudden bleeding, it may stop spontaneously. However, signs of bladder irritation and infection may soon ensue with frequency, urgency, and difficult and painful urination. As one urologist put it: "The local distress can be dreadful to behold."

DIAGNOSIS IS made by looking into the bladder with a cystoscope and doing a biopsy. With this procedure, the surgeon determines the size, shape, and location of the tumor. In some instances, the top of the lesion has sloughed off, leaving a bleeding ulcer. A Pap test of the urine may reveal cancer cells. X-rays of the kidneys and an examination of the prostate gland complete the study.

Some vesical tumors can be removed with electrocoagulation or cutting electric currents inserted through the opening in the 'scope.' Radon seeds can be inserted the same way. Serious lesions require abdominal surgery which involves removal of part or all of the bladder.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902. Telephone inquiries will not be answered.

SPINE WEARING OUT

O.R.S. writes: What is a degenerative condition of the lower spine? I have backache and this is what the X-ray technician wrote on his report.

REPLY

Degeneration stems from years of wear and tear on joints, including the spinal vertebras. It occurs sooner in some than in others because of poor posture, unusual strain, weakness of the back muscles, illness, or arthritis.

PREVENTING ADHESIONS

Miss N. writes: Is there any way to prevent adhesions after abdominal surgery?

REPLY

No, because adhesions represent scar tissue. But 99 per cent of all adhesions never cause trouble. In the remaining 1 per cent, scar tissue pulls on the obstruction. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on adhesions.

RASH ON HAND

A reader writes: There is a rash on my left hand. The doctor who is treating me calls it dermatitis. What is the cause of dermatitis?

REPLY

The most common causes are infection, irritation, and sensitivity to a substance with which the person comes into contact. Dermatitis is an all-inclusive term meaning inflammation or irritation of the skin.

PADDED BRA, CANCER

T. K. Writes: Could breast cancer be caused by wearing a foam rubber padded bra?

REPLY

We don't know the cause of breast cancer, but I doubt if wearing falsies is responsible. After all, the disease occurred long before brassieres were invented. In addition, many women who use foam rubber padding never develop this type of tumor. Our leaflet on breast tumors can be obtained by sending stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

EPILEPSY TRAIT

M.E. writes: Are most epileptics born with the disease?

REPLY

The majority are born with the hereditary trait but may not develop symptoms until years later. Brain damage at birth could lead to convulsions. Our leaflet on epilepsy can be obtained by sending stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

SINUS INFECTION

C.T. writes: Can sinus infections spread to the ear?

REPLY

Yes. The same microorganisms responsible for the sinus infection could spread to the ears via the eustachian tubes. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on sinus disturbances.

State Income Tax Rebates Averaging $110

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Nearly $136 million in state incomz tax refunds have been sent to California taxpayers with the rebates averaging $110 each.

State Controller Houston Flournoy reported that through yesterday — about three-fifths of the way through the filing period which ends April 15 —his office had mailed 1.23 million refunds totaling $135.88 million in value. But he added "that's only a beginning."

He said more than 4.5 million refunds are expected to result from "overwithholding," more than 226,000 refunds will go to non-withholding taxpayers who overpaid tax estimates, and 1.75 million other refunds are expected because of the one-time special tax relief credit and the new renters credit.

Final Chessman Wish Granted; Ashes Scattered

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Death row author Caryl Chessman has been granted his last wish: His ashes have been scattered at sea.

The word came yesterday from Rosalie S. Asher of Sacramento, who said she represented Chessman from his death row sentence in 1948 to his execution in 1960. She said a recent change in state law made the scattering possible.

She said Chessman's ashes were removed from an undisclosed cemetery site in Marin County. They were scattered from an airplane west of Santa Cruz Island off Southern California.

Chessman was convicted of kidnaping in the Los Angeles "red light crimes" in which a bandit with a red spotlight on his car, imitating police, robbed and molested couples parked on lovers' lanes.

Redd Foxx Unhappy With 'Sanford' Set

REDD FOXX
Denies illness

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Comedian Redd Foxx says reports that illness had forced him to drop out of "Sanford and Son" were "a lie."

Fox said in the taping of the "Mike Douglas Show" Tuesday that he had become disenchanted with working conditions and didn't want to revert to what he called "Amos 'n' Andy." He didn't elaborate.

The 51-year-old entertainer has missed four segments and is expected to be out the remainder of the season. "Nobody misses it like I do, but I want it right for me once," Foxx said.

The Douglas show will be aired Tuesday, March 26.

Owen Simon, a spokesman for the Douglas show, said Douglas met Foxx Sunday night and he agreed to come on the show and talk about why he was off NBC's "Sanford and Son." Douglas was in Las Vegas to tape 10 shows.

Foxx said on the show he would return to the comedy series if NBC gives him "what whoever was No. 1 last had and a dollar more."

Foxx's attorney and manager said the entertainer was out of the show because of a nervous condition. He did spend five days in a hospital last week.

He said he was disenchanted with "adverse working conditions" on the set.

"There's no window and no skylight in the studio where we rehearse eight hours a day," he said. "No window at all. I haven't seen a bird in three years. They shut the door and they give me five minutes to go to the toilet and I'm 51 and that's not enough time. At my age, you have three or four prunes in the morning."

Foxx complained that he was treated "like I was a boy and not a man," adding that the atmosphere on the set was similar to the Army. "You have to salute almost," he said.

In Los Angeles, executive producer Bud Yorkin said yesterday, "I can't remember a day when he's spent eight hours here. Ours is the same as all rehearsal halls on all the shows. I've been in the business 25 years and I've never seen a rehearsal hall with a window."

Producer Aaron Ruben said the working conditions were flexible and Foxx's description was "quite exaggerated."

Foxx also contended that he did not get any credit for writing a portion of the show. But Ruben said, "He's added a joke here and there and changed a line, but he's never written for the show."

Yorkin said Foxx was one of the highest-paid men in television, but declined to name the salary. He said, "He's a talented and funny man and I hope he will be back with us next year."

Center Opened For Information

A new information center has been established on the Sonoma State College campus so visitors can phone or go there to get information about activities or to locate faculty or students.

The center is located in temporary building A-2, within the college's student resources office.

The center will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Friday, according to a college spokesman, and from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays.

Petaluma Rotary Film To Be Shown

Elks Lodge Selects Top 1974 Students

Caitlin Hurt of Tamlapais High School and Theodore R. Mitchell Jr. of San Rafael High School were announced today as winners of the San Rafael Elks Lodge "Most Valuable Student" awards for 1974.

Scholarship awards to the winners and runners-up will be presented at a dinner in their honor March 30 at the Maple Lawn clubhouse of the lodge.

Young Mitchell is a double winner in Elks' scholarship competition. He also was winner of first place in local and district competition for the lodge's student leadership award, and third place in the statewide competition. He also was named in January as Marin winner of the Young American Awards sponsored by the Boy Scouts of America and the Independent-Journal.

The youth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore R. Mitchell of San Rafael is high school student body president, member of the principal's advisory board, district curriculum council, education policies commission, and chairman of the teacher evaluation committee. He made the all-league la crosse team and has coached athletics in elementary schools.

Miss Hurt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hurt of Mill Valley, will be valedictorian of the Tam High graduating class.

She is a life member of the California Scholarship Federation, member of the Honor T steering committee, student assessment committee, World Affairs Council, Sierra Club, Quentin Canal Club, Geographic Society, National Association of Skin Diving Schools, Marin Youth Orchestra, and Tam High Band. She plays basketball and tutors instrumental students.

Miss Hurt plans a career in either music or psychology and is undecided between Stanford University and University of California for her higher education. Mitchell plans to attend Stanford and major in history.

Second place winners in the "Most Valuable Student" competition are Anthony Trembley of Marin Catholic High School and Joan Larkins of San Domenico School. Third place winners are Bruce Bollen and Janet Yates, both of Terra Linda High School.

The awards are based on scholarship, extra-curricular activities, out-of-school activities, personality, and leadership. First place winners will receive $150 awards; runners-up, $100, and third place, $50.

In addition, the lodge will present special Maple Lawn Awards at the dinner to Gregory Foley of San Marin High School, Mary Hiatt of Terra Linda High School, Simone Stipanich of Dominican College, and Linda Coleman and Theresa Durkin of San Rafael High School.

Ranch Hand Sentenced In Assault On Employer

A ranch hand who admitted assaulting his employer on a ranch in Fallon has been fined $1,000 and given a one-year suspended county jail sentence.

Galien J.D. Kitchens, 47, who now works on a ranch in Oakdale, pleaded guilty to assault with a deadly weapon in connection with an attack last October on 49-year-old Alice M. Gotterdam.

Mrs. Gotterdam suffered three broken ribs when Kitchens, who described her as his wife-to-be, jumped on her with both feet.

Superior Court Judge Charles Read Best also placed Kitchens on three years' probation and declared the offense a misdemeanor.

According to a probation report, Kitchens formerly worked as a hand on Mrs. Gotterdam's ranch and had a two-year history of assaults on her.

Harry Browne Speaks To San Francisco Group

"Silver Bullion is one of the best all-around investments, especially for what we'll probably be facing in the next few years. You'll be protected against any possible disasters. In fact you'll profit—whatever direction the economy might take, including continuation of the status quo."

February 16

At a cost of $150 a person, hundreds of San Franciscans flocked to see and hear the famous economic analyst and author Harry Browne. He spoke of impending pitfalls, and referred to self-reliance as the best motive for protection in our changing economy. He seemed to preach a tune of common-sense hoarding as the best leverage against economic disasters.

But, silver, like any other hoarding device has certain cautions to heed. You must purchase from legitimate sources. You should know the significance of purity symbols, assay stamping, recorded serial numbers when buying bullion, hallmarks and the proceedures for converting your bullion back into currency. Not all bullion is readily exchangeable.

According to Mr. Browne, "Silver bullion should be bought for present delivery.", thereby keeping your purchase in balance with the market. "Stay out of the futures' market," is the advice from Browne. So, when you buy bullion, be sure that you will get prompt delivery.

Above all else, be sure that you buy only hallmarked bullion which has been assay stamped. Buy only from those who are interested in your protection. Make sure that you buy through a bank trust account, so that your cash is protected until your silver arrives.

NFL Players Don't Want Rozelle As Arbitrator

CHICAGO (UPI) — Elimination of National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle as arbitrator of player compensation disputes could be the key to avoiding a strike by players.

In settling upon contract demands at their annual convention, the players agreed to make the selection of a neutral arbitrator for all compensation disputes their No. 1 objective. The players have let it be known they consider Rozelle "management's man."

The demands will be presented to NHL owners at the first bargaining session scheduled March 16 in Washington.

Currently, when a player plays out his option with a team and signs with another, Rozelle determines the compensation given the player's former team if the two owners cannot come to an agreement themselves.

In the past, Rozelle has levied stiff terms of compensation and the players claim this has inhibited owners in signing players who have played out their options.

The Rozelle rule will have to be eliminated," president Bill Curry said. "There's a wide range of other demands, but most of them stem back to this basic root of the problem.

"The basic issue is freedom. Every single issue, almost without exception, focuses back to whether or not we have a degree of freedom."

The players have objected to consideration of Rozelle as a "neutral arbitrator" on all issues except injury grievances because he is paid by the owners.

"We have established the ability to strike," Curry said. "We have to have that as a lever. We don't want to strike. There's no one here that is looking forward to a fight with these people if we can settle it. But if we have to strike, we will strike.

"We don't believe that the season will be canceled, but we have to have the capability to withhold our services. We're going to bargain in good faith and we trust we'll get the same kind of response from management and that we can settle this thing without a strike."

The convention also voted unanimously to support the Tunney-Ervin Senate bill described as a "bill of rights" for professional athletes. The bill would outlaw the reserve or option clause, which gives a professional team the right to retain rights to an athlete who refuses to sign a new contract.

Executive director Ed Garvey said "money issues took a clear back seat during the entire convention. The pension is important. Protecting the injured and widows is important, but you're never really going to achieve very much if you're not free.

"We're the first in professional sports to say that the time has come now to change things, and the pension alone is not going to be enough."

Curry said he could not reveal all contract demands, or what importance the players placed on each, since he wanted the owners to receive the demands first.

Girls Gymnastics Has Come Long Way

Gymnastics for girls has come a long way over the past 10 years in Marin County. Evidence is that about 50 of the 175 high school girls competing in a sectional meet at Terra Linda High Saturday are from Marin.

The meet is drawing girls from 32 schools throughout the Bay Area and from as far north as Amador. They all had to go through three preliminary meets to qualify for this one so the cream of the crop will be entered.

"In gymnastics we're stronger in Marin County than in other areas," said meet director Lyn Avila, gymnastics coach at Terra Linda High. "We've been at it a little longer than some of the other schools."

From this meet the top 10 finishers in each of three classes — beginners, intermediates and intermediate open — qualify for the "Elite Meet" at Los Altos High School March 16. With four sections competing it would amount to the Northern California championships.

"This should be a very entertaining meet," said Mrs. Avila. "It's an optional meet so there is a lot of variety. They can make up their own routines." The girls will have to compete in all four categories — uneven parallel bars, balance beam, vaulting and floor exercise — so there will be no specialists.

"Marin high school teams have 30 girls on them" said Mrs. Avila. "When gymnastics started 10 years ago the teams were lucky to have five girls. The last two Olympic games have increased the interest in gymnastics. And a lot of the girls coming to high school have already had junior high competition."

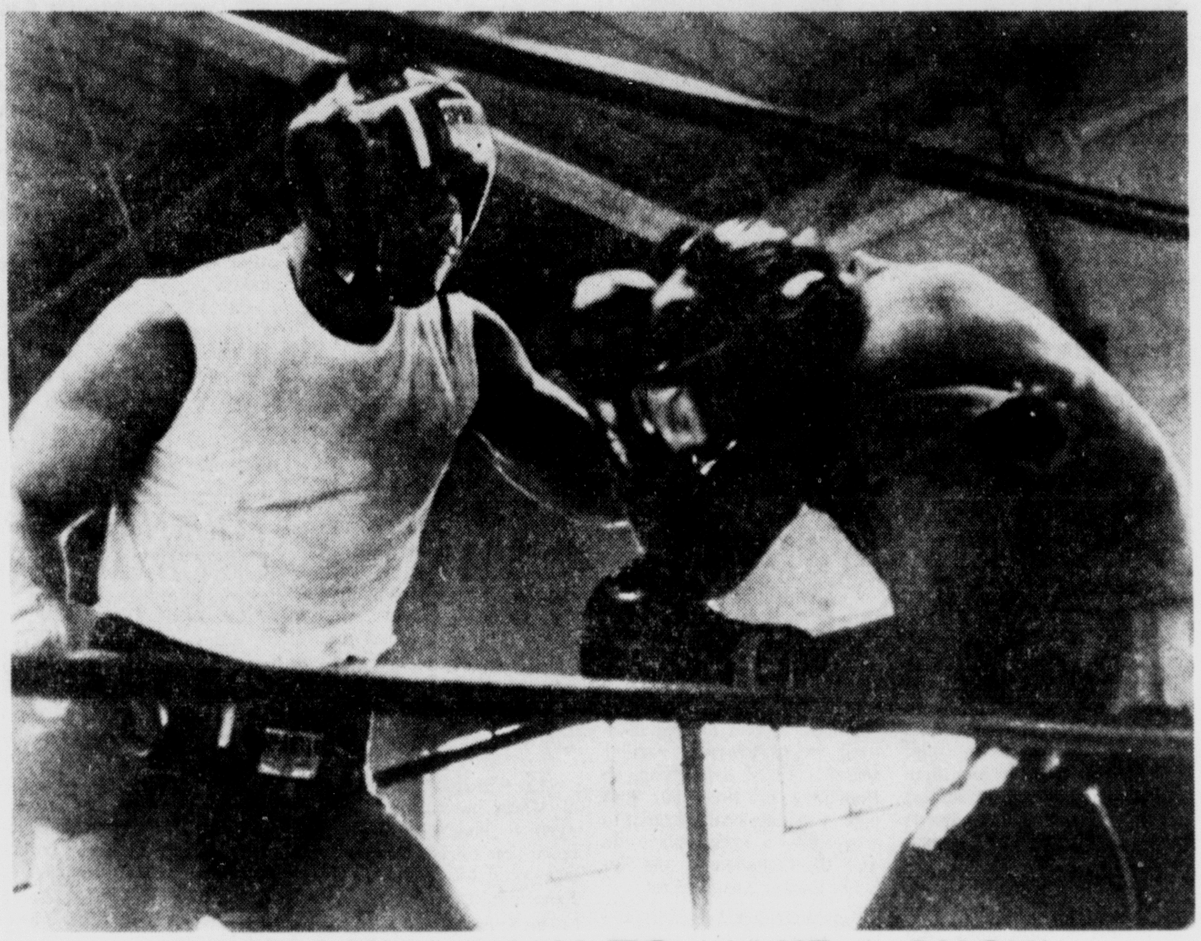

Saturday's meet will be an all-day thing, open to the public. Warmups start at 8 a.m. and actual competition at 10 a.m. It will probably run until 4 p.m.

SINCE WE STARTED with girls sports we might as well stick with it. Tamalpais High School's girls track team had quite a meet with Berkeley Tuesday in Mill Valley. The outstanding thing about Tam's 51-49 victory was that 40 of Tam's 51 points were scored by three pairs of sisters.

Maggie Keyes won the 440-yard run in 64.2, the 880 in 2:29.3 and the high jump at 4-feet-4, and sister Kate won the mile in 5:27.8. Linda Broderick was second in the 880 and second in the high jump, with sister Bonnie second in the mile. Robin Jessup was the long jump winner (15-5) and was second in the 220, with sister Kim second in the 100. Now that's some sister act, threefold.

Although complaints of discrimination between boys and girls in athletics are being heard throughout the country, very little complaining can come from Marin County. Although not competing on the same team with boys, high school girls have a very good program of their own, especially in track, swimming and basketball.

In Marin County, prep girls have come a long way, baby.

'A HELLUVA WAY TO MAKE A BUCK'

Sparring partner Terry Hinke (right) absorbed punishment from George Foreman as the world heavyweight champion drilled in Pleasanton for his upcoming defense against Ken Norton. "I'm getting sick of being beat up every day," said Hinke, a 6-foot-4, 220-pounder from Eugene, Ore., who has a 35-3 pro boxing record. "I think I'll feel the effects for the rest of my life. His left jab is like a head-on crash and his right uppercut literally lifts you up off the floor. This is a helluva way to make a buck." (UPI Telephoto)

MORE INTRAMURAL
De-Emphasis Talk At Cal

BERKELEY (UPI) — The University of California, home of the free speech movement 10 years ago, could become the first school, at least in the Pacific 8 conference, to deemphasize big time sports.

While most colleges are feeling the money pinch in intercollegiate sports, there is a move at California to put less emphasis on intercollegiate sports and more on intramural sports.

Mike Aguirre, president of the school's student government, has drawn up a series of propositions to be submitted in time for the next Cal athletic budget. If the proposals are adopted Cal would have to pull out of the Pac 8.

"We are not Alabama," Aguirre said by way of prefacing his propositions. "Here at Cal we don't feel the same kind of involvement with the sports teams and it may be that we shouldn't even be competing at that level. The issue is how best to spend our money to meet the needs of the greatest number of students."

Among Aguirre's proposals are abolition of spring football practice, elimination of athletic scholarships except in cases of clear financial need, reduction of travel expenditures, abolition of recruiting, abolition of training tables for athletes, elimination of unnecessary hotel expenditures and the transfer of full-time athletic department employees to an expanded intramural program.

Athletic director Dave Maggard has been instrumental in beefing up California's intramural program but he's also interested in keeping the school's intercollegiate program at its current high level. Thus, he is the man in the middle at the moment.

Maggard said the dropping of spring football, cutbacks of scholarships and reductions in travel all have been discussed before.

"The cost of running a program and the energy crisis have already brought some change and more is coming," said Maggard.

23-0 Win For Sonoma

PASADENA — It was another squeaker for the Sonoma State College baseball team.

After pounding out 22 runs Tuesday, the Cossacks came back with 23 more here yesterday for a 23-0 non-league victory over Life Bible College.

Walt Sweeney went the distance for Sonoma. He didn't allow a man past second base and struck out 17 while allowing just two walks.

The Cossack attack was led by Wayne Bauers and Ken Williams, who drove in four runs each. Dale Lyster banged out two doubles and a single and Greg Sherman added three singles.

SAN RAFAEL WINS IT
Odd No-Hit Baseball: 8-7

Seven runs on no hits, the linescore reads. It may be a trifle hard to believe, but it actually happened yesterday.

Pitchers Tim Madera and Mark Kline of San Rafael High School combined for a no-hitter over Lowell of San Francisco yesterday, but an assortment of walks, errors and wild pitches let the Indians score seven times in San Rafael's 8-7 victory.

Other non-league games yesterday saw Redwood pummel host Sunnyvale, 9-4, Terra Linda whip host Oakland Tech, 4-1, and Drake drub visiting McAteer of San Francisco, 16-7, for a perfect day for Marin.

San Rafael (1-0) pounded out 12 hits to score its eight runs impressively. Tom DuBois, Dave Steele and Madera all went three for four, Madera slamming two triples. DuBois and Kline drove in two runs apiece.

Lowell scored twice in the third inning on an infield error and a wild pitch, three times in the fourth on a wild pitch and two bases-loaded walks, and twice in the sixth on a wild pitch and an infield error.

Redwood (2-0) belted six extra-base hits in beating Sunnyvale. Doug Hartman and Phil Bacigalupi hit solo home runs in the second and fifth innings, respectively, over the 330-foot sign in left field.

Rob Long drove in two runs in the seventh inning with his third triple of the young season. Jeff Vogel doubled twice.

Terra Linda (1-1) got a complete-game effort from pitcher Dana Beck, who struck out six, walked five and scattered three hits. Two Trojan runs scored on a fourth-inning error by Oakland Tech, and two more crossed the plate in the sixth on another error and Dick LaBarthe's sacrifice fly.

Drake (1-0) smacked seven hits, including a bases-loaded triple in the sixth by Mike Whelan. Whelan drove in four runs and John Dearborn knocked in three.

Terry Linda's game today at Napa was rained out. The Trojans' Saturday game against Riordan of San Francisco at Albert Field has been changed from 7:30 p.m. to 1 p.m.

Warning By Bonds To Young Players

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (UPI) — Garry Maddox has signed his 1974 contract for a little under $50,000 to bring all the San Francisco Giants under contract.

Maddox earned $27,000 last season but got the big pay jump yesterday after he finished third in the 1973 National League batting derby behind Pete Rose and Cesar Cedeno. Maddox hit .319 and had 11 homers and 76 runs batted in.

The Giants, meanwhile, had a seven-inning workout in which a team headed by Tito Fuentes won 5-2 over a squad led by Bobby Bonds. Backup infielder Chris Arnold had a triple, single and two walks.

Although Maddox and Gary Matthews both signed this week, neither star outfielder was yet in training camp, which shifts today from here to Phoenix.

Asked if he believed the loss of eight days training time would hurt the young outfielders, Bonds said that "it won't do them any good, either in their conditioning or attitude."

Bonds cautioned the young stars that coming off flashy seasons "they will find this year will be tougher. When you come off a good year, you've got to work much harder just to maintain a level, to say nothing of raising it.

"The pitchers on the other clubs have had a whole winter to think of new ways to get them out and reflect on old ways that didn't."

He also warned Maddox that he no longer has the luxury of having the traded Willie McCovey hitting behind him.

In other news here Wednesday, Dave Kingman became the 26th member of the Giant family to catch the flu.

Seals Cannot Stand Prosperity: 3-3 Tie

OAKLAND (UPI) — The California Golden Seals couldn't stand prosperity as they lost the lead three straight times last night, but they still wound up with a solid 3-3 tie against the tough Chicago Black Hawks.

Although the Seals managed only 14 shots at Tony Esposito, who shut them out in their last meeting, they made good on three of them.

Morris Mott opened the scoring for the Seals late in the first period only to have Jim Pappin hit on a power play with two seconds to go in the stanza.

Gary Croteau put the Seals ahead again 2-1 at 19:13 of the middle stanza when he drove a 20-footer past Esposito. Chicago evened things at 7:38 in the final period but Joey Johnston brought hope to the crowd of 4,968 by hitting at 7:38 of the final period before Stan Mikita tied the game about three minutes later.

A rested Gilles Meloche was tough in the nets as Chicago had more than twice as many shots as the Seals, trying the little netminder 29 times.

The Seals, who genuinely seem to be playing tougher hockey under new ownership and new head coach Marshall Johnston, are idle until Boston calls on them Sunday.

Score by periods:

BOCCABELLA'S LEFT KNEE ACTING UP

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Catcher John Boccabella missed the Expos' practice yesterday after straining the left knee operated on last October.

There was no contact involved. The seven-year veteran, a resident of Terra Linda, merely reported stiffness after 12 days of workouts and was given the day off.

Boccabella had ice treatment during the practice and is expected to rejoin workouts tomorrow.

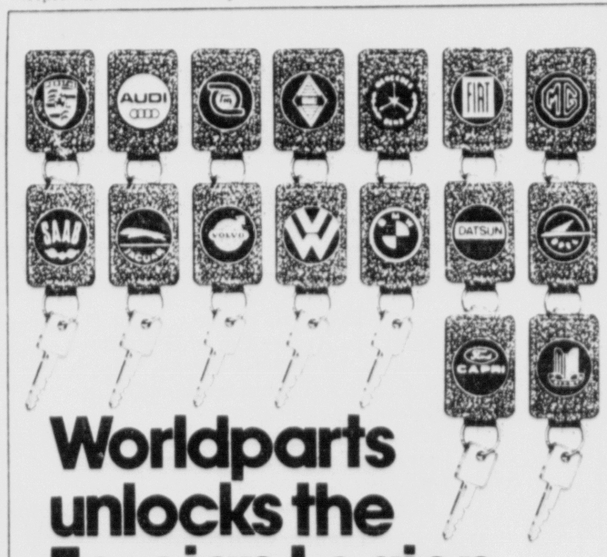

WFL Offers Cappelletti $500,000; Rams Next

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The ownerless Philadelphia franchise of the World Football League (WFL) yesterday offered Heisman Trophy winner John Cappelletti a $500,000 contract.

Cappelletti, Penn State's workhorse running back, and his attorney met with Ron Waller, coach of the Philadelphia WFL club, who said afterward he didn't think "the (Los Angeles) Rams will offer him as much money as I offered him today."

Cappelletti was the first-round draft pick of the NFL Rams and is scheduled to meet soon with representatives of that club.

"I've got a chance to play in the established league and a chance to play with people who are best — the National Football League," Cappelletti said. "If the established league can't compete in dollars and cents with the WFL, then I'd prefer to stay in the place where I grew up (nearby Upper Darby, Pa.)."

Foyt In Favorite Role For Cal 500

ONTARIO, Calif. (UPI) — A.J. Foyt is the favorite and then some in Sunday's $350,000 California 500 but the man from Texas isn't so sure.

"We really haven't won anything yet," said the 39-year-old Houston veteran, who outsped everyone by a wide margin in last weekend's qualifying here. "I don't know about my chances. I've been in this game too long to count my chickens before they're hatched. A lot of times things work so well before a race and then the same things go bad on race day.

"Hell, this is motor racing and anything can happen."

Despite Foyt's remarks, the five-time U.S. Auto Club champion and three-time Indianapolis 500 winner is the man to beat in the fifth annual Cal 500, the first of three USAC 500-milers this year.

Last Saturday, he drove his remodeled 1973 Coyote-Foyt to a pole-winning 190.617 miles per hour, nearly 5 m.p.h. faster than No. 2 qualifier Johnny Rutherford of Fort Worth, Tex., Rutherford's qualifying speed was 185.989 m.p.h.

The next day, Foyt blazed to his 46th USAC championship car victory, averaging 4.2 miles per hour faster at 176.873 m.p.h. to win his 100-mile Cal 500 qualifying race than Rutherford did to capture his.

"Things just went my way those two days," he said. "In this sport, anything can happen the next day."

Foyt, who was hospitalized for nine days last November with hepatitis, grudingly acknowledge he will be the driver everyone will be shooting at Sunday.

"But that makes no difference and it's nothing new," he said. "Even in the last couple of years when I haven't had the success I had in other years, I've been one of the people to beat.

"But being the favorite and winning are two different things. There's nothing guaranteed yet."

TREVINO TALKS Ggolf

Long Iron, Short Grass

By LEE TREVINO

Actually, no grass. I'm talking about hitting a long iron from turf with the texture of a frozen taco. The clubface puts more spin on the ball from a hard surface.

Properly struck, a long iron from hardpan jumps into the air like a homesick quail. Backspin makes it get high in a hurry.

The average player has a tendency to slap at a two-iron or three-iron from a solid surface. What usually follows is a slice, followed by a flying club, followed by a sinking spell.

I suggest this shot be played with the ball placed slightly right of center. Don't hesitate to hit down on it as you would for a punch shot.

This promotes firm, crisp contact in the hitting zone. A "soft" shot from hardpan is a ticket to poverty. The club will bounce off the ground and into the ball, and it'll hardly get out of your shadow.

Hitting long irons from hard ground means certain adjustments are needed. A consistent hooker or slicer can expect more curve. Give it more room to either side.

NHL ROUNDUP

'Going Down Drain,' Says Team Captain

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Still shaking from the humiliation he had seen his team suffer on the ice, the little, gray-haired man, whom some call the proudest individual in hockey, choked out the words that had to hurt him more than anyone.

"We're fast going down the drain, we're nothing more than an expansion team now," said Henri Richard, the captain of the Montreal Canadiens, after they absorbed a humiliating 9-2 loss to the New York Rangers last night. The victory was the eighth in a row for the Rangers and they have lost only twice since Emile Francis took over as coach 22 games ago.

"I can't remember a worse defeat, especially since now we've lost three bad ones in a row," Richard continued. "I hope somehow we can restore the pride on this team or else it's going to be a very short season."

The emotions ran high on both sides Wednesday night with both clubs realizing they are almost certain to be opening round opponents when the Stanley Cup playoffs get under way next month. The Rangers had been unable to beat Montreal in 10 previous regular season outings, dating back to February of 1972, but last night's success enabled them to move into a second-place tie with the Canadiens in the National Hockey League East.

Boston stretched its firstplace lead in the East to 12 points by blasting St. Louis 8-0.

Bruins 8, Blues 0

Phil Esposito scored his 55th and 56th goals and Wayne Cashman added a hat trick as Boston halted its longest losing streak at two games. Gilles Gilbert had to stop only 19 St. Louis shots for his fourth shutout.

Sabes 4, North Stars 4

Rick Dudley scored with less than 10 minutes left to play to enable the Sabres to gain a tie after they had blown a 3-0 lead. The deadlock could be costly to both teams though since Buffalo still trails fourth-place Toronto by nine points in the East and Minnesota is six points shy of the last playoff berth in the West.

Earliest Exhibition Opening

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Wilbur Wood, a 24-game winner last year, received the starting nod for the Chicago White Sox today as they met the Detroit Tigers at Sarasota, Fla., in the earliest opening of a baseball exhibition season.

Manager Chuck Tanner will follow with Bart Johnson, Terry Forster, Dave Lemonds and John Lamb.

Dick Allen fans will have to wait until March 15 before they can see the AL's 1972 Most Valuable Player in action. Allen sat out most of 1973 with a broken leg and Tanner is allowing his prize slugger to set his own pace in rounding into shape.

Coach Al Monchak's group beat Coach Joe Lonnett's team 3-1 yesterday in the team's final intrasquad game. Buddy Bradford scored the deciding run when he tripled in the third inning and came home on Jorge Orta's sacrifice fly.

There were a pair of planned 10-inning games at the Los Angeles Dodgers and Houston Astros' Florida camps. The Dodgers used 10 pitchers as a team directed by Coach Jim Gilliam routed Coach Tom Lasorda's unit 16-1. Bill Russell and Steve Garvey each collected four hits. Garvey's bag included a two-run homer. Ron Cey hit a three-run homer in the Gilliams' 22-hit attack. Al Downing was touched for seven runs.

Bob Gallagher rapped out a double and two singles as Coach Bob Lillis' team shut out Coach Grady Hatton's mob 5-0 at Houston's Cocoa training facility. Larry Dierker, Doug Konieczny, Jim Crawford, Oscar Zamora and Jim York each hurled two scoreless innings.

Manager Yogi Berra announced a southpaw trio for the New York Mets' Saturday exhibition opener against the St. Louis Cardinals. Jon Matlack, Jerry Koosman and Tug McGraw have the call.

Elsewhere on the Grapefruit and Cactus circuits, the Steve Boros beat the Harry Malmbergs 10-2 in a seven-inning Kansas City Royals intrasquad game that featured five-out frames ... Dick McAuliffe hit a grand slam homer to highlight a Boston Red Sox intrasquad game. Carl Yastrzemski, Tommy Harper and Bob Montgomery also connected. Pitcher Juan Marichal arrived from the Dominican Republic and the Red Sox now have all 40 roster men in camp.

An orthopedic specialist said third baseman Buddy Bell could resume workouts with the Cleveland Indians ... Atlanta Manager Eddie Mathews revealed that Carl Morton, Gary Neibauer and Joe Niekro will face the Dodgers in Saturday's exhibition opener at West Palm Beach ... Former Cy Young Award winners Jim Lonborg and Steve Carlton will start for Philadelphia in weekend games against the Red Sox ... Manager Bobby Winkles said Bobby Valentine will start the Angels' Friday's Cactus League opener against the Chicago Cubs. Valentine missed most of last season with a fractured right leg.

Swiss Skater Takes Lead

MUNICH, Germany (UPI) — Karin Iten of Switzerland moved into the lead of the women's event in the World Figure Skating Championship after the compulsory program today.

Favorite Christine Errath of East Germany trailed her with 17-year-old Dorothy Hamill of Riverside, Conn. buried in fifth place.

Miss Iten scored 9.5 ordinals and 76.77 points for her performance of the rocker. But she is a poor free skater and given little chance in the concluding free program.

Miss Errath, the 17-year-old European champion from East Germany, scored 21-73.70 and cemented her position as favorite.

England's Maria Mclean held third place with 40-69.42 and Dianna de Leeuw of the Netherlands was fourth with 37- 70.36.

Miss Hamill led the three American contenders by seizing fifth place with 37-77.51.

Miss Hamill went into the competition as joint favorite with Miss Errath, the European champion.

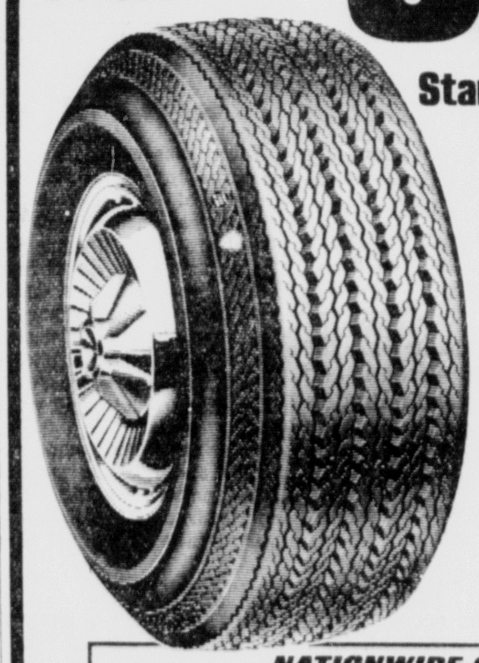

After Gordie McKellen tumbled out of competition yesterday, American hopes for a gold medal focused on Miss Hamill alone.

Listen: You've tried some whiskeys that growl. Now try a new kind of whiskey. Crow Light. It whispers.
Take a sip of Crow Light. We think you'll agree that other whiskeys — even the lightest Scotch, smoothest Canadian or mildest Blend — taste heavier by comparison.
That's fitting. Crow Light is an entirely new and different kind of whiskey created to be the lightest whiskey ever made in America.
Lighter than Scotch, smoother than Canadian Crow Light is light...lighter than Scotch in color and taste. And if you think Canadian is the smoothest whiskey, try Crow Light. "Crow Light is smoother," say the Canadian whiskey drinkers we've talked to.
Real whiskey down to its toes
Crow Light is real, 4-year-old whiskey, all right. But it's distilled and aged a very special way. Result: Lightness no other kind of whiskey can touch. Some whiskeys growl. But Crow Light Whiskey whispers. And you can get a lot farther with a whisper than a growl.
Special price $11.49 Half gallon

Dodgers' Sutton Another Ford

VERO BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — If they ask Don Sutton the same question again this year, maybe he can have a new answer for them.

Maybe he can tell them about Whitey Ford.

Don Sutton, after all, has become baseball's most celebrated non-20 game winner since Ford, and if you are as good as he is and don't win 20, people begin to wonder.

Sutton always has an answer.

"Pure and simple," he says, "winning is out of a pitcher's hands. You can go nothing-nothing for 27 innings and not win."

That has been known to happen to the Los Angeles Dodgers, but it still doesn't satisfy everyone who looks at the "W" column, and there Sutton has another answer.

"I'm being paid very well for making it tough on the other team to score runs," he says. He insists he never has been concerned about that seemingly magic number of 20 which consumes most pitchers.

Ford, elected to the Hall of Fame in January, toiled 18 seasons for the New York Yankees and while he usually won 17 or 18 games, he never hit 20 until his 12th season. By then he was 32-years-old.

Sutton, who won't be 29 until next month, will earn $114,000 from the Dodgers this season, the most ever paid to a pitcher who never has won 20 games, but he's still rankled by anyone who criticizes his won-lost record.

"How many of those games did you see?" Sutton pointedly asks a questioner who refers to his 18-10 record in 1973. He points to the fact the Dodgers won 21 of the 33 games he started last year, expects to start more games in 1974 and says, "I'll guarantee if I don't win 25, the club will win 25 I start."

"Alston (manager Walt) has faith in me because he knows he can count on me for a good job every time out," says the Dodgers' righthander. "I just want to be remembered for being one of the most dependable pitchers this club has produced."

A 21-year-old rookie when Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale pitched Los Angeles to its last pennant in 1966, Sutton has matured to become the No. 1 man on the National League's best pitching staff. In the last three seasons he has totalled 54 victories with earned run averages never above 2.55.

Never before this season, however, has Sutton set himself up with a target victory goal but this time around he's shooting for 25 and believes he can get it.

"You're just kind of wandering around aimlessly if you don't set some goals," he said while getting his arm worked on in the Dodgers' spanking new spring training clubhouse.

"And I think you have to set your goals high enough so that without the help of others, or divine intervention, you can't possibly make it. I'd rather set a high goal and fall short than accomplish a little one."

A 25-victory year also would propel Sutton toward recognition of another sort he seeks.

"We are all realistic enough to know Tom Seaver is head-and-shoulders above every other pitcher in the league," Sutton says. "I don't think there's another pitcher in our league who can dominate a game like Tom.

"My ambition is to be known as the second best pitcher in the National League."

Celebrities At Sports Day Camp

Celebrities will abound in the Marin Jewish Community Center sports day camp this summer.

University of San Francisco basketball coach Bob Gaillard, San Jose pro soccer general manager Dick Berg, former New York Yankees' pitcher Art Schallock, retired Kansas City Chiefs' tight end Reg Carolan, and 1936 Olympic gold medal track medalist Archie Williams will instruct.

Fifth through eighth grade boys can participate. A pair of three-week sessions are scheduled. The first is from June 28 through July 19, the second runs Aug. 6 through Aug. 23. Camp times are 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Mondays through Fridays. Participants will be grouped by age and athletic ability. Such sports as soccer, basketball and baseball will be featured.

Murray Narell, Jewish Center executive director, will supervise the camp. Max Shapiro, director of World Sports, Inc., will serve as consultant. Additional information can be obtained from the Jewish Center at 200 North San Pedro Road, Santa Venetia.

Warriors Begin Rough Journey

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Currently on a two-game losing streak, the Golden State Warriors are in a virtual tie with Los Angeles as they begin a rough road swing tonight at Milwaukee. The game will be televised, starting at 6 p.m., on Channel 2.

"This trip," says center Nate Thurmond, "is going to be a monster. Just a monster."

In the next 10 days, Golden State plays eight games. All except one—Friday night at Philadelphia — are against teams certain to be in the playoffs. In the next six days, they play five and games in four different cities.

Rec Cage Scores

The Tanyas, with Wayne Dahlgren scoring 23 points, scored a 69-64 victory over the Old-Timers last night in a Strawberry Recreation District adult basketball league game at the Strawberry Recreation Center. The 49ers defeated Dick Munden, 60-36, in the other game.

UCLA Stars Top All-Coast Picks

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — All-Americans Bill Walton and Keith Wilkes of UCLA topped the 1973-74 United Press International All Pacific Coast basketball team, it was announced today.

Freshman Clifton Pondexter, who led Long Beach State to its most successful season, and high-scoring guards Phil Smith of San Francisco and Ron Lee of Oregon rounded out the mythical team picked for UPI by a board of coaches and experts.

Bob Florence of Nevada-Las Vegas, Charles Bailey of Fresno State, Rich Kelley of Stanford, Tom Henderson of Hawaii and Frank Oleynick of Seattle made up the second team while the third team was composed of Larry Pounds of Washington, Kevin Restani of San Francisco, Steve Puidokas of Washington State and Southern California guards Dan Anderson and Gus Williams. Sonoma State's Bill Belander was given honorable mention.

For Walton, it marked the third time he had been named to the All Coast team. The only other player to receive the honor three times was Lew Alcindor, who preceded Walton at UCLA.

Wilkes was the only other repeater from last year's first team.

Walton, as expected, was named Player of the Year and Bob Boyd of Southern California was named Coach of the Year.

Casals, Wade Struggle Before Winning Matches

Combined AP & UPI

DALLAS — Virginia Wade and Rosemary Casals took to the court yesterday for the first time since they met in the finals of the Virginia Slims tour stop in Chicago last week, and both of them took a little while to get started.

Miss Wade of Great Britain, third-seeded and defending champion in the $50,000 Maureen Connolly Brinker tennis tournament, scrambled to a 7-5 first set victory over Kristy Pidgeon before closing out the match with a 6-1 second set decision.

And the fourth-seeded Miss Casals of Sausalito lost the first two games in her match with Isabel Fernandez before she put her game in order and won 6-3, 6-1.

Meanwhile, on the men's side in Hartford, Conn., Rod Laver and Stan Smith, both rated No. 1 in the world at one time, will meet at the net tonight in the opening match of the four-day Aetna World Cup tennis matches between the United States and Australia.

Veteran Fred Stolle will captain the Australian team that consists of John Newcombe, Ken Rosewall, Tony Roche and Laver while Denny Ralston will guide Americans Arthur Ashe, Tom Gorman, Marty Riessen and Smith.

This is the fifth year of the $50,000 tournament, which donates one-fourth of the prize money to charity, and the Aussies hold a 3-1 edge.

Golden Gate Fields Exacta Pays $1,119

ALBANY, Calif. (UPI) — Four Partners and Bold Air finished one-two in the fifth race at Golden Gate Fields yesterday to produce a $1,119.50 Exacta.

A total of 54 $5.000 tickets was sold on the 8-12 combination as Four Partners paid $25.60 to win and Bold Air returned $11.80 to place.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Major Jones of Albany State, Joel Copeland of Old Dominion, John Grochowalski of Assumption, Leonard Robinson of Tennessee State and Jyronna Ralston of Kentucky Wesleyan were named to the United Press International College Division All-America basketball team announced today.

Lakers Thump Celtics

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Los Angeles Lakers are back in a virtual first-place tie with Golden State in the NBA Pacific Division but they did it the hard way.

After falling to Portland for the third time in four games on the Blazers' home court last night, the Lakers returned home to the Forum Wednesday night and got back on the road to the playoffs with a 116-111 win over Boston.

The Lakers' offense?

"Get it to Gail and clear out, that's all," said Laker General Manager Pete Newell.

Goodrich sank 39 points and led a third-quarter spurt in which Los Angeles ran up 16 straight points. The Atlantic Division leaders were unable to recover.

"The way things have been going this year," Laker Coach Bill Sharman said, "I'd rather play the Bostons and the Milwaukees than against Cleveland or Portland."

What could be critical to Los Angeles, however, even more than the schedule was when Happy Hairston injured his thigh with about five minutes to go before the end of the first period.

Hairston had his leg taped and came back in to play for a few more minutes but did not come back out on the floor after intermission.

Bucks 111, Kings 99

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 25 points and Mickey Davis had 22 and grabbed 16 rebounds to propel Milwaukee past Kansas City-Omaha for the Bucks' sixth win in as many games against the Kings this season. Oscar Robertson poured in 20 points for Milwaukee while Jimmy Walker paced the Kings with 25.

76ers 112, Bullets 99

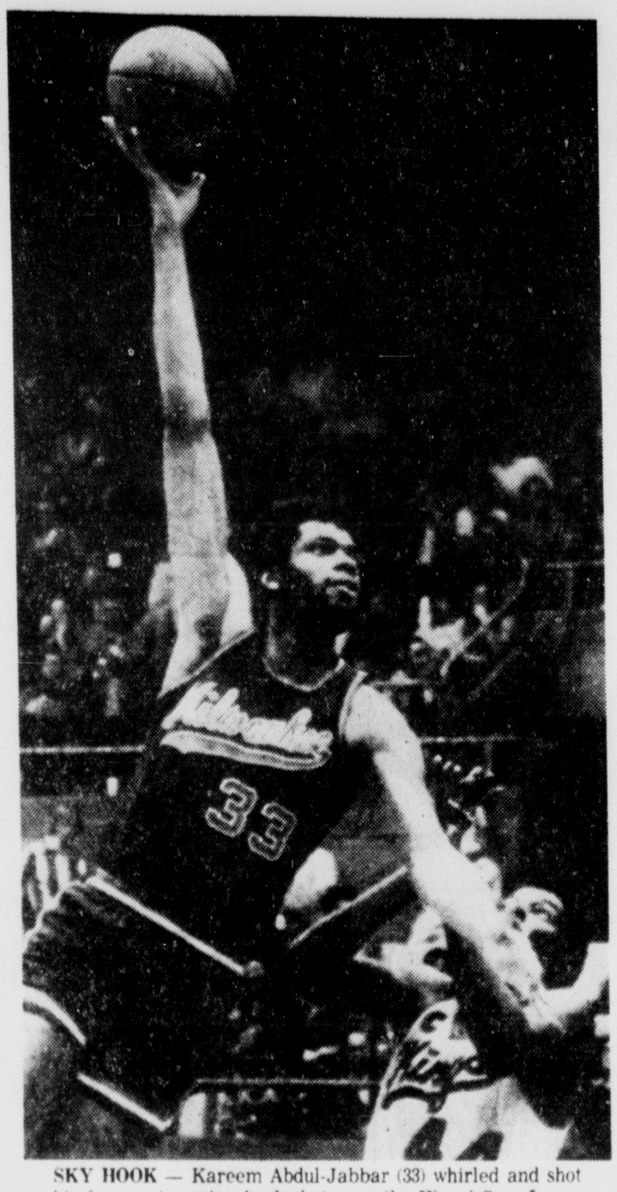

Steve Mix and Fred Carter combined for 53 points to lead PHiladelphia over Capital. Carter scored 12 of his 26 points in the final period while Mix topped the balanced Sixer attack with 27 points. Tom Van Arsdale had 16 points for the 76ers, eight in the final period. Phil Chenier led Capital with 26 and Elvin Hayes added 21.

Knicks 96, Hawks 94

Earl Monroe and Walt Frazier scored 20 points apiece for New York, which had to rally for its win over Atlanta. Herm Gilliam of the Hawks hit 10 points in the third period to give Atlanta a 72-68 lead going into the final stanza but the Knicks caught up and moved ahead to stay at 84-83 with 3:49 left. Gilliam led Atlanta with 20 points and Pete Maravich added 19.

Bulls 105, Rockets 93

Bob Love poured in 43 points for Chicago as the Bulls beat Houston for the 10th straight time. In the final three periods, Love hit 17-of-24 shots and all seven of his free throws. His 17 points in the final quarter, including eight straight from the field, gave Chicago its biggest lead at 100-84.

SKY HOOK — Kareem Abdul-Jabbar (33) whirled and shot his famous towering hook shot over the Kings' Sam Lacey (44) last night during the Milwaukee Bucks' 111-99 victory in Omaha, Neb. The Bucks will host the Golden State Warriors tonight. (UPI Telephoto)

Record-Setting Year For Garner

Wil Garner did not lead College of Marin in assists, free throw percentage or field goal percentage during the recently-completed basketball season.

It is considerably easier to list the areas in which he did not lead, because the other list would be longer than the 6-foot-4 forward's arms.

Garner completed his astonishing two-year career by setting virtually every major scoring record and leading his team in almost every category on which statistics are kept.

The Tars finished the season third in the Camino Norte Conference with a 12-4 record, and had a 24-4 overall mark which included an undefeated 12-0 preseason. They were ranked 11th in the state in the Junior College Athletic Bureau's final poll.

Garner won the Camino Norte scoring title with 397 points in 16 games for a 24.8 average, some 81 points better than his chief rival, John Brown of Canada College of Redwood City.

The 397 points was a school record for conference scoring. Garner also set Marin records for career conference scoring (625), single-season overall scoring (675) and career overall scoring (1,227).

According to Tar statistician Mike Bon, Garner also led the team in such areas as:

Games played (tie, 28), field goals attempted (630) and made (281), free throws attempted (174) and made (113), offensive rebounds (142), defensive rebounds (154), total rebounds (296), rebounding average (10.5), fewest times fouled out by a regular (one), total points (675) and average (24.1).

And just to prove he's mortal, he also led in personal fouls (71) and floor errors (88).

Garner's shooting percentages of 45 from the floor and 65 from the line were excellent, but did not lead. Guard Bill Donnellan sank 48 per cent of his field goals (140 of 292) and guard Rich Hagler made 74 per cent of his free throws (14 of 19).

Donnellan finished second in scoring at 11.6, with guard Leonard Smith third at 11.2. Smith led in assists (97) and was the top free throw shooter among regulars with 70 per cent (45 of 64).

John Channell averaged 7.0 rebounds to finish second to Garner. Harry Norman averaged 6.4, Smith 5.2 and Donnellan 5.0.

Marin as a team shot 40 per cent from the floor (861 of 2,159) and held its opponents to 34 per cent (701 of 2,046). The Tars also outrebounded their opponents by an average of 45.3 to 38.1 per game, despite not having a player over 6-5.

Padre Pitcher Escapes Injury

YUMA, Ariz. (UPI) — The San Diego Padres stuck to manager John McNamara's spring training plan of one fundamental a day yesterday, but that was almost too much for Jim McAndrew.

McAndrew, a pitcher acquired from the New York Mets in an off-season trade and a possible starter this season for San Diego, had his knee go out on him during drills on the cutoff play.

It turned out to be only a scare, however, because his knee popped back into place. McAndrew, who was running the bases, said he has had problems with the knee in the past.

Jack's Long Ball Is Back

MIAMI (UPI) — Jack Nicklaus went looking for the 10 yards he lost off the tee and thinks he found it.

Nicklaus, complaining of hitting "popcorn shots," went for his annual tuneup Sunday—lessons from his favorite teaching pro—and he thinks he found the answers. He hopes the improvement starts showing up in the $150,000 Doral Eastern Open Golf tournament, which opened today.

Nicklaus said Lagroce pro Jack Grout "moved me up six inches closer to the ball. The reason I wasn't getting any distance was that I was having to reach out too far to hit it."

Grout has been supervising Nicklaus' game since the 34-year-old all-time money leader was in grade school. Grout was head pro at Scioto Country Club in Nicklaus' home town of Columbus, Ohio, until 1961, when he took the pro job at Lagroce Country Club in Miami Beach.

"This is something I do every year," said Nicklaus of his session with Grout. "Your swing never really changes but your alignment and other little things do. And playing every week you don't notice. That's why I need lessons.

"I'm playing the popcorn shots," Nicklaus told Grout before the lessons. "I've been inventing ways to get the ball out to where I used to hit it. A two iron—I always used to get 205 yards with it. Now I'm lucky to get 200."

In addition to moving Nicklaus closer, Grout told him he was playing the ball too far forward in his stance and wasn't squaring his shoulders.

"I was hitting some practice balls yesterday and they were going out of sight," Nicklaus confided to Tom Weiskopf before playing in the Doral proam yesterday.

Weiskopf is another of the several pros who hope to get the touch back in the Doral this week.

Another popular name expected to challenge for the $30,000 first prize money is Lee Trevino, whose last win was the 1973 Doral Eastern.

All of the year's top money winners were to tee off in the opening round today, including Johnny Miller, who opened the tour with three straight victories. Also on hand were Citrus Open winner Jerry Heard and Inverrary winner Leonard Thompson.

A rational alternative to rationing gas.

What's right with this picture? Well if it were true, we'd be saving 28 billion, 560 million gallons of gas every year.

How did we arrive at that figure? Since we're a nation of national averages, we know the average car uses about 735 gallons of gas a year. The Beetle, 399*. Turn the eighty-five million average cars on the road right now into Beetles, and it works out to a saving of 28,560,000,000 (give or take a few gallons).

Now we haven't figured out all the water and antifreeze that would be saved with the Beetle's air-cooled engine.

Nor can we compute the extra parking space that would be around.

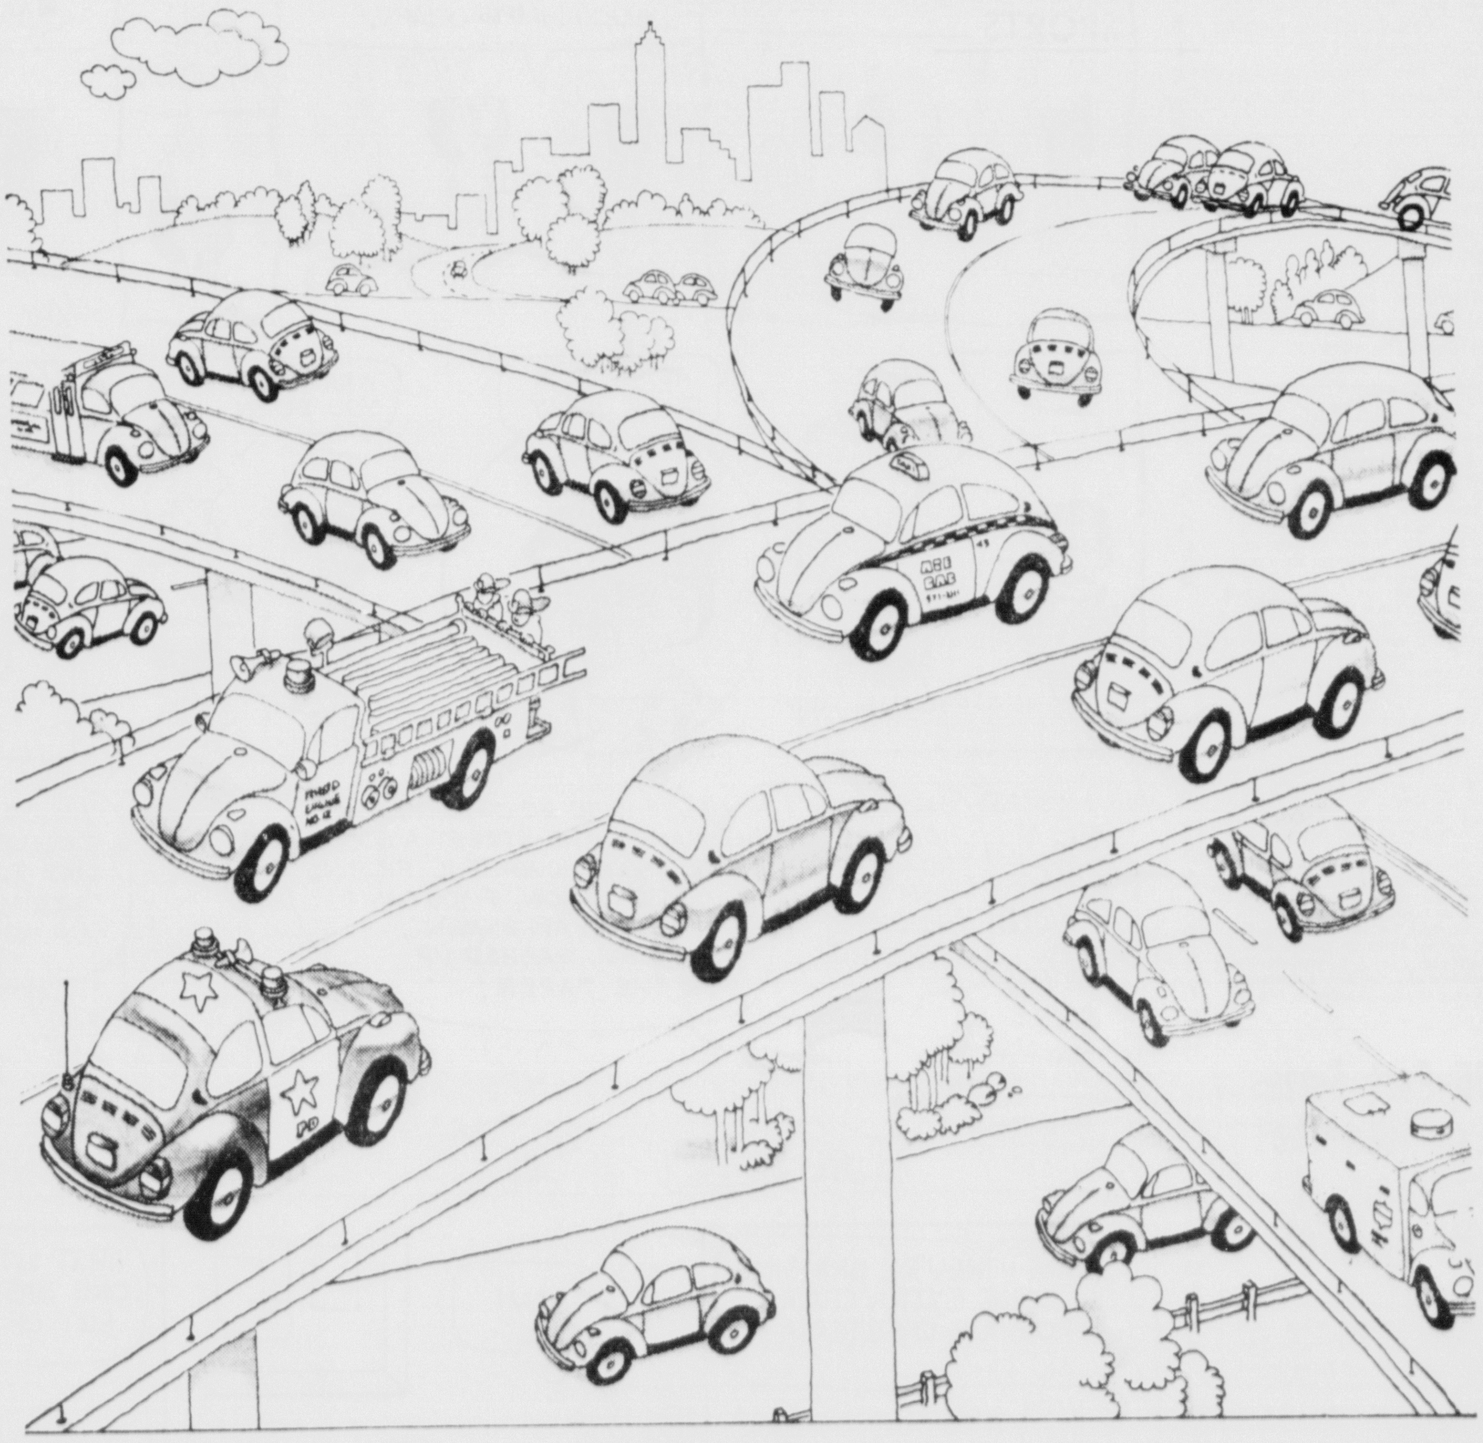

Not to mention all the money people would be able to save in a world of Volkswagens.

But we know for sure that this is no pipe dream. There already are police car Beetles up in Ossining. And a custom built, chauffeur-driven Bug in L. A. And Volkswagen taxis all over Honduras. And a Beetle that herds cattle in Missouri.

So with gas prices going up and rationing becoming a reality, the Beetle never looked so good. In fact, you might almost call it beautiful.

Reagan's Joke On Free Food Botulism Leaked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — California Gov. Ronald Reagan told a private luncheon yesterday an "epidemic of botulism" among recipients of the Hearst food handout would seem only just.

An aide later said Reagan was only joking.

The aide said the remark occurred during a private luncheon of the Bull Elephant Club, a group of top aides to Republican members of Congress.

According to the aide, "the Governor said something like 'sometimes you wonder whether there shouldn't be an outbreak of botulism'" in reference to the food distribution.

"The governor never meant that comment to be taken seriously," the aide said.

San Geronimo Buildings Eyed

Supervisor Gary T. Giacomini will meet with San Geronimo Valley residents next Wednesday to discuss proposals for a new post office in Woodacre and telephone service building in San Geronimo.

The two proposals have stirred some community opposition.

The meeting, slated for 8 p.m. at the Lagunitas School multipurpose room, also will deal with traffic problems and progress toward creating a design review board for the valley.

Giacomini said county employees involved in the matters will attend the meeting.

ALMANAC

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Thursday, March 7, the 66th day of 1974 with 299 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus and Jupiter. The evenings stars are Mars and Saturn.

Noted American botanist Luther Burbank was born March 7, 1849.

On this day in history:

In 1932, in the depth of the depression, an estimated 3,000 men rioted, demanding jobs at the Detroit plant of the Ford Motor Company. Four men were killed.

In 1936, Adolf Hitler ordered his Nazi troops into the Rhineland, violating the Versailles Treaty.

In 1945, the U.S. 1st Army crossed the Rhine River at Remagen, Germany, as World War II in Europe moved into its closing weeks. Total Allied victory — V-E Day — came May 8.

In 1969, two of the three Apollo 9 astronauts flew their lunar module around the main spacecraft, then linked the two together again.

A thought for the day: American author Ambrose Bierce said, "Marriage . . . a community consisting of a master, a mistress and two slaves, making it two in all."

All That Is Needed To Solve The Problem Is Basic Rules

You needn't remember exact figures for various suit breaks. Just remember this basic rule: When the opponents hold an even number of cards, the odds are against the best possible break; when they hold an odd number of cards, the odds favor the best possible break.

East cleverly played the queen of clubs at the first trick, and South won with the king. How to proceed?

If the clubs were divided 4-3, South could afford to give up the ace of hearts and three club tricks. The alternative was to try for five diamond tricks.

South couldn't rely on the opening lead to show a four-card suit because West was a crafty cove who often led fifth-best just to deceive a trusting opponent.

Declarer calculated the chance of a 4-3 club break, of a 3-3 diamond break and then added the possibility of dropping a doubleton jack of diamonds. Somewhere he added his wife's age to one of the figures and came up with the wrong answer.

South went after the diamonds and lost a cold game. The opponents eventually got the ace of hearts, three clubs and the jack of diamonds.

The basic rule would solve South's problem. The opponents held six diamonds, an even number, so the odds were against a 3-3 break. They held seven clubs, an odd number, so the odds favored a 4-3 break.

What about the doubleton jack of diamonds? After winning the first trick with the king of clubs South should cash the ace and king of diamonds to see if the jack drops. If it does, he can run the diamonds; otherwise he switches at once to the ten of hearts.

Hands of this sort may take a bit of horse sense, but you don't need a slide rule any more than you need a horse.

What do you say?

Answer: Bid one diamond.

You can afford to show your suit at the level of one. If partner opened with one spade or one heart you would not be strong enough to show the diamonds. A response at the level of two shows a better hand — usually at least 10 points.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Only Small Change Needed In Retiree's Portfolio

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am retired on a disability pension and Social Security. Would you review my portfolio and suggest ways to improve the return from my holdings? — W.H.

A. Your $55,000 portfolio of 10 stocks, one bond and three mutual funds yields $2,950 annually, a return of 5.4 per cent. There are very few changes needed, however, as you have chosen wisely. Your common stocks, with one exception, should be held for their generous yields and appreciation potentials. The only issue which should be sold is American Ship Building (NYSE). The proceeds from the sale should be reinvested in Pennzoil 8¾s of 1996. This debenture is selling slightly below par to yield 8.5 per cent.

You have been reinvesting mutual fund income and capital gains distributions in additional shares up to this point. Had you taken these distributions in cash, you would have received $1,518 from capital gains and $960 from income dividends in 1973. By exchanging Putnam Investors for Putman Income Fund and Mass. Investors Trust for Mass. Income Development, you would increase your income return by about $500.

Q. What chance is there that interest will continue to be paid and the ratings will be maintained on Cons. Edison 8.4s of 2003 and Pacific Tel. & Tel. 7½s of 2008? Both bonds have dropped in price. — R.P.

A. I see no reason for concern in either case. Both companies reported higher earnings in 1973, which should improve the interest and fixed charges coverage ratios. The Consolidated Edison bond is a first mortgage and refunding bond, covered by a sinking fund. The bond is redeemable from 1978 at 106.96 and lower thereafter. Recently trading below par, the bond yields 8.66 per cent currently, consistent with other similarly rated (BBB) issues. The Pacific Telephone debenture, although rated AA, does not represent a lien on any company property. Because the coupon is well below the rate being offered on like quality issues, the bond trades below par to yield 8 per cent currently.

More Inflation News Sets Off Stock Slump

NEW YORK (UPI) — Profit taking and more inflation news sent stock prices lower on the New York Stock Exchange today. Trading was moderate.

Around the market opening the government reported wholesale prices increased an average of 1.5 per cent in February. The jump was steep, but still the smallest increase in four months.

Stocks associated with motor tourism dominated the active list for the third consecutive session. Most of these issues had been depressed since the beginning of the Arab oil stoppage, and now have responded to hopes for an end to the embargo. Some, however, were hit by profit taking today. Walt Disney, the volume leader, dropped ⅜ to 51⅛ on 148,300 shares.

On the American Exchange, stocks rose slightly in sluggish trading. Leading the actives, McCulloch Oil fell ¼ to ⅞ on 34,500 shares.

FREIGHT TRAIN FOR SPACE

Employees at Rockwell International in Downey checked over a full-scale mockup of the Space Shuttle Orbiter yesterday. The 60-foot-long cargo bay at the top is open in the photo. About the size of a medium-range jetliner, orbiter is 122 feet long, has a 78-foot wingspan and will be able to carry as much as 65,000 pounds of payload to earth orbit.

'Streaking' Said Not Sexual Thing

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Sociologists say the new collegiate fad of "streaking"— running nude in public—is an act of defiance against conventional society with little sexuality involved.

And they predict the craze sweeping the nation's college campuses will fizzle when the novelty wears off.

"I predict it will die out, absolutely," said Dr. Frederick Koenig, professor of sociology at Tulane University. "There is some initial gratification from seeking release from social restrictions, but you reach a point where it's not done any more."

Koenig said streaking was not exhibitionism, which in its technical sense has a sexual motivation, and "I do not think streakers are streaking for sexual gratification."

Caroline E. Preston, associate professor of psychiatry and behavorial science at the University of Washington, agreed.

"I think it probably has nothing to do with sexuality at all," she said. "It may be almost in opposition to it. If anything, it's a kind of denial of sexuality."

Dr. Lawrence Z. Freedman, a noted behavorial researcher and professor of psychiatry at the University of Chicago, said streaking was significant in terms of community standards and acceptance of nudity.

"It obviously says something about changing mores in which nudity is sort of semi-taboo," he said.

Dr. Arthur Yehle, a Memphis State University psychology professor, saw no deep social significance in streaking, although he said, "There's a fairly good amount of thumbing your nose at society involved."

Koenig said some coeds are taking part in the naked scampers because they feel women should have equal rights. "If this is a fad, they say, it shouldn't be just for boys to get in on."

This view was supported by a coed at Glassboro State College in New Jersey who streaked with 25 males. "Why not women? Men are doing it. Men should not be the only ones to do this."

The fad showed no signs of diminishing last night.

The streakers included 75 girls, the Daily Tar Heel said.

About 25 streakers, including two coeds, ran past the Memphis State University center mall last night. About 300 streakers, some wearing ties and top hats, marched with a band on the Holy Cross campus in Worchester, Mass., while 80 girls and five boys ran nude around the campus of Hood College, a girls' school in Frederick, Md. There were 150 streakers at Georgia Southern College last night and two arrested.

And in California, the San Diego State University rugby team stripped to boots and socks yesterday a fee. The 35-member team, seeking funds for new uniforms, posed for photographs for Playgirl Magazine. They'll get $600.

Federal Office Building Bomb Results In Only Minor Damage

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A bomb blast caused minor damage in a federal office building early today, authorities say.

A five-page mimeographed letter, saying the explosion celebrated Women's Liberation Day, was signed by the "women's Brigade-Weather Underground" and given to the San Francisco Chronicle.

The FBI said there were no injuries in the explosion in a hallway of the regional offices of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The explosion was the second there in little more than five months. Last September, a pipe bomb exploded on a window-ledge outside the building and damaged a basement storage room.

This morning's blast blew a jagged hole in an office wall, hurled debris 40 feet down the hall and shattered large windows nearby.

Building guards and the Chronicle received telephone warnings shortly before the 1 a.m. blast.

"We have planted a bomb in the HEW building that is scheduled to go off in ten minutes in celebration of Women's Liberation Day," said a caller to the newspaper, who identified herself as "a member of the Women's Collective of the Weather Underground."

Following instructions given by the caller, newspaper staff members picked up the letter in a telephone booth near the newspaper's offices.

"It looks like one of those letters that they pass out in front of the Federal Building," said an FBI spokesman.

The letter claimed the group was inspired by the Symbionese Liberation Army that is holding newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst, and by a member of the radical Weathermen group who was killed in an explosion in New York in 1970.

It also included a long list of grievances, including one criticizing HEW's stand on hunger programs.

San Jose police and the Chronicle later reported another caller identified himself as a member of "Americans For Justice" and claimed a bomb had been set off in San Jose.

But police and the FBI received no reports of an explosion there.

Miss World In Marriage Denial

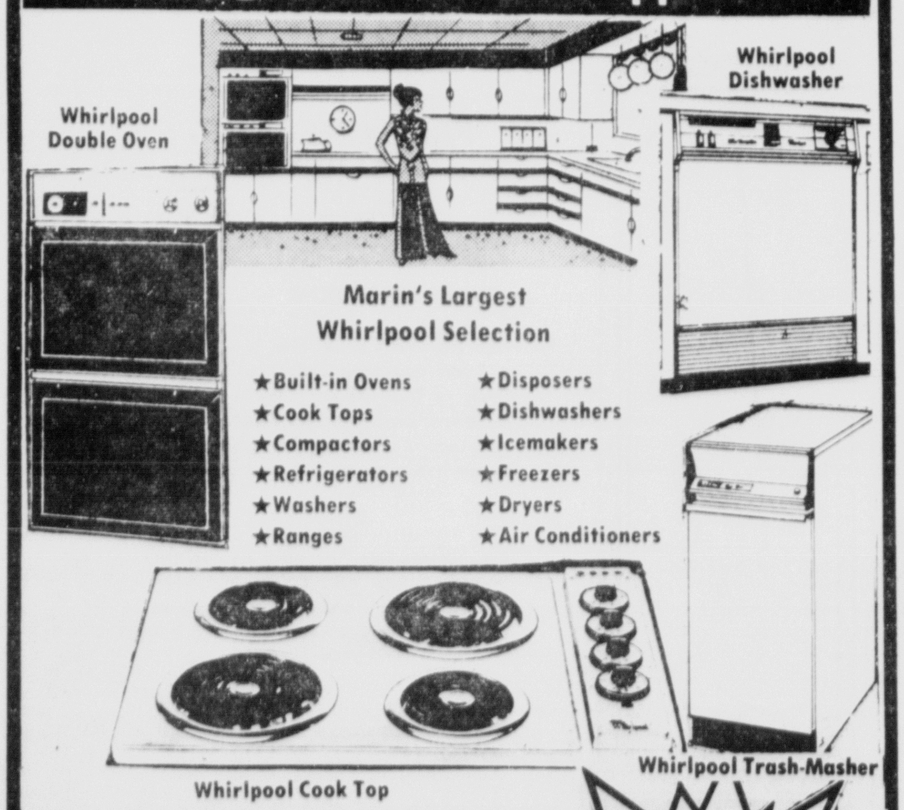

LONDON (UPI) — Marjorie Wallace, the current Miss World title-holder, yesterday denied reports that she plans to resign in order to marry Peter Revson, the American perfume manufacturer and racing driver.

"When I read I was engaged to him it was news to me," she said. "We are in constant contact and I may be seeing him soon, but we are not engaged."
